Roosevelt Completes Cross-Country War Inspection Tour

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt today completed a two week, 8,754-mile war inspection trip which took him from coast to coast, the White House announced.

The White House made only a brief announcement of the trip. Details were withheld until a special presidential press conference to be held late this afternoon.

At request of the White House, as a special wartime safeguard, disclosure of Mr. Roosevelt's trip had been withheld by the press and radio until he returned to Washington.

The White House statement said:

"The White House announces the return of the president to Washington after a most successful two weeks inspection tour of the country.

"The president left Washington Thursday evening, Sept. 17, and returned shortly after noon today, completing a trip of 8,754 miles, during which he inspected army and navy bases, shipyards, tank, airplane and shell producing plants, army, navy and marine training centers, supply depots and embarkation ports.

"The president traveled from Washington through Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, on west through North Dakota, Montana and Idaho to Washington, down the length of the Pacific coast and returned through the southwest, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Louisiana, and thence to Washington, stopping at army cantonments in Mississippi and South Carolina.

"Upon his return to the White House, the president announced he would hold a press conference late today for the purpose of giving the Washington correspondents the story of his trip. He was accompanied on the inspection tour by representatives of the AP, UP and the INS."

Early House Anti-Inflation Vote Seen

BILL EXPECTED TO BE AT WHITE HOUSE FRIDAY

Senate Leader Says Measure In Present Form Will Get President's OK.

IT NOW GOES TO HOUSE

Both Administration and Farm Bloc Claim Victory In Senate Compromise.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Administration leaders today predicted that their concessions to the farm bloc assured quick house approval of the senate's anti-inflation bill.

Both the administration and the farm bloc claimed a victory.

Speaker Sam Rayburn expected to have the bill on President Roosevelt's desk tomorrow—a day after the president's "you-do-it-or-I-will" deadline, but in time to prevent an historic clash between the president and congress.

A senate leader said Mr. Roosevelt had advised his congressional lieutenants that the senate bill, designed to curb inflation through general stabilization of all prices, wages and salaries at Sept 15 levels, was satisfactory to him.

A bitter, eight-day senate fight between administration forces and the farm bloc ended last night when the senate approved, 82 to 0, a much amended version of the original bill.

The major issue—farm prices—was compromised. The vote on the controversial farm amendment was 86 to 4

But neither side would admit that it had given in.

Originally, the farm bloc sought a new formula for computing farm parity prices that would have included all labor costs—that of the farmer, his family and hired hands.

Yesterday, however, an admin-

'Hurry and Whip Them,' Draftees Told by Relatives

For more than an hour before the biggest contingent of inductees to leave from a Richland county board departed by bus this morning for Camp Perry, relatives and friends of the boys milled about them on Park avenue west to wish them good luck and tell them to "hurry up and whip the Axis and come back home."

By the time the three buses pulled away at 9:40 a. m, several thousand Mansfielders jammed Park avenue west to cheer the boys The group of selectees was from the Board 1 district.

There were tears in the eyes of mothers, fathers and sisters as the buses left. Throughout the crowd were others who wiped their eyes too, remembering their own sons who left amid similar demonstrations or who may be leaving soon.

The Senior high school band played during the program, presenting a program of marches and patriotic music.

Before the demonstration on the

Ration Board Goes to New Headquarters

Central rationing headquarters for Richland county will be opened Thursday at 43 North Mulberry street in the rooms formerly occupied by the Personal Loan company, Nelson Neff, chairman of the new county-wide board, announced today.

The city and county rationing boards, which previously were separate organizations, have had offices in the Farmers Bank building and Dr. D. R. Talbot's office on Park avenue west.

Neff said the board has been divided into four panels, each with a chairman The complete board has 12 members. Two new members, John Gross and Earl Dye, Mansfield, were added recently.

One of the panels, headed by M. C. Matthews of Butler will be in charge of sugar rationing. Another, with Lloyd Dillon of Mansfield as chairman, will handle the price control division. A third will have charge of automobile, bicycle, and typewriter rationing Its chairman is R. D. Hale, Mansfield The fourth, headed by C N. Shultz, Mansfield, will act on applications for new tires and retreads

Neff said no organization has been set up yet for gasoline rationing, but it will be handled by one of the board panels.

To eliminate trips to Mansfield for residents of the southern part of the county who want to apply for tires, Neff said arrangements have been completed to receive applications in Butler, Lucas, Bellville and Lexington.

Members of the county board in each village will take the applications and turn them in to the board at Mansfield for action. The representatives in the villages are M. C. Matthews at Butler, William Castor, Lexington; W. Pritchard, Lucas, and R. B. Garber, Bellville.

The tire panel will be in session at the new headquarters from 2 to 4 p m. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, Neff said.

FIRE KILLS 4

Father, Three Children Die In Oil Stove Blast.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Fire which swept a southside apartment house after an oil stove explosion last night killed four members of one family. Another occupant of the building was burned.

The dead: Mary Ray, seven months old, who perished in her crib; her father, Lowell, and his two sons, Scott 4, and Anthony, 5.

Ray's wife was visiting neighbors. The explosion occurred as the father started to light the stove in the kitchen of the aptrment.

Mary Meyers, 75, living in an upstairs apartment, suffered second degree burns and Fred Schassberger, 75, the building owner who occupied an apartment there, was treated for shock.

Firemen carried Mrs Catherine Baker, 51, down a ladder to safety from a second floor apartment.

WAR HITS HOME FRONT DEEPER

35-Mile Speed, Freeze on Used Tires and Tubes Go Into Effect Today.

With the home front geared to a greater war economy today including a 35-mile speed limit on every street and highway in the country Mansfield police reported four arrests for excessive speeding

Designed as a means of conserving fuel as well as prolonging the life of tires, the new order's inauguration saw a voluntary lessening of motordom's hurry locally as well as on the highway However, Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals anticipated no great change here inasmuch as 35 miles has been the maximum speed permitted in the city for some time under existing ordinance regulations.

Bromfield Criticizes Draft, Calls Hershey 'Ham Politician'

Food production for the war is seriously threatened because farms are being stripped of labor by the "faulty, inefficient and downright impossible" selective service system, Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield charged in Cleveland yesterday in a talk before the five-state conference of the U S Employment service, the Associated Press said.

Bromfield, who has frequently criticized the present method of calling up men for the army, described Major Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, as a "ham politician who refuses to issue clear, understandable and straightforward statements," the press dispatch said.

Only a central all-inclusive selective service system, with authority to draft farm and factory labor as well as soldiers, would end the manpower confusion, Bromfield said.

He was quoted as saying that the Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard is "a small man behind a very big desk."

"In spite of Claude Wickard's glib statements, the actual results

ALL-TIME HIGH

Driver License Sale Reaches 2,190 For Final Day.

Mansfield and Richland county motorists failing to obtain their drivers' licenses before the deadline yesterday continued to pour into the Richland County Auto club today after setting an all-time high for a single day's sales.

The auto club issued 2,190 drivers' licenses yesterday topping the closing day's sales in 1941 when 1,903 licenses were issued. Close to 500 persons were in the office when the doors closed last night it was estimated by Jack Berger, auto club assistant secretary.

Although the total September sales rose to an even 14,300 the number of licenses issued fell considerably behind that of last year when the club chalked up a total of 18,027.

IT'S DAY FOR 'WINTER WEAR'

Soldiers Switch to Warmer Garb In Most of Country.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — This is the day that soldiers in this country generally go into "winter wear."

Soldiers in most of the country exchanged cotton for woolen underwear, put on wool socks, and donned overcoats.

Replacing last year's vizored cap with a small woolen liner is a new woolen knit cap which will be much warmer. A snug woolen "shawl" comes with the cap. It can be attached, and covers the neck and shoulders

Flannel shirts for winterwear are in order—and they will have new convertible collars, like those on the new khaki shirts

Plan Intensive Drive to Get 1,000 Blood Donors In County

Mansfield and Richland county will be called upon within the next two weeks to build up a blood donor reserve of 1,000 persons from which to draw when Richland county chapter of the Red Cross begins its monthly blood donation service to preserve life in the armed forces.

The appeal will be carried by the county Red Cross blood donor committee and the key workers of every township into organizations, stores, offices and industries in an effort to create a reservoir of 300 persons that can be tapped each time the Cleveland mobile blood donor unit visits the city.

To do this, at least 1,000 volunteers are needed since the same donors cannot be called more than once every two months. More than one-third of the volunteers now on file at the county executive office have donated twice and the remainder of them once. John H. Finefrock, county blood donor chairman, said. All have registered for future service.

Although the plans for contacting industrial workers have not been completed it is likely that

MAYOR LOCKE REBUKED BY LIQUOR CHIEF

Letter From Mayor Seeks To Aid Night Club Cited For Sale to Minors.

'NO COMPLAINTS,' HE SAYS

'Heard Plenty of Them,' Reply of Hawley, Presiding at Ringside Hearing.

An attempt by Mayor William J. Locke to intercede in behalf of the Ringside Night club, 28 East Third street, cited for the sale of liquor to minors, today had drawn a rebuke from Harry E. Hawley, chairman of the state liquor control board

A letter from Mayor Locke was presented at a liquor board hearing yesterday when John P. Hergatt, Ringside operator, appeared to defend himself on the charge brought by the state liquor enforcement department.

The letter said that the mayor had received no complaints about the night club, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus.

This, according to the dispatch, led to Hawley's assertion to Hergatt that "the department of liquor control has had plenty of complaints about this place."

The liquor board chairman added that "tavern keepers expecting to stay in business must redouble efforts to eliminate sales to minors."

Asked about the letter today Mayor Locke said he voluntarily wrote the letter in behalf of the Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards was expected to stick with his choice of Johnny Beazley, 23-year-old rookie right-hander, to face the American league champions at 2:30 p. m. (EWT), while big Ernie Bonham was a cinch to toil for the Yanks.

Stalin Phones His Armies to Yield No More

Volga Boatmen Brave German Fire to Bring Up Reinforcements; Nazis Bolster Forces But Fail to Deal Decisive Blow.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said today that Marshal Timoshenko's forces, battling to relieve Stalingrad, had broken through the German defensive position at some points along the Don northwest of Stalingrad.

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—Backed up by a stream of reinforcements from across the Volga and barrages from the roving guns of the Volga flotilla, Russian infantrymen under telephoned orders from Joseph Stalin to yield no more were reported crunching forward today northwest and southwest of Stalingrad.

Dispatches to Red Star from Stalin's namesake city frankly pictured it as in the "most decisive moment" of its trial as an increasing weight of Axis troops and machines were thrown into the fight.

The counter-offensive strokes on the wings of the constricted front evidently were designed to wipe out or offset a new wedge driven into the northwestern flank by a fresh German tank division, as reported in the Kremlin's midnight communique.

Even with the arrival of that panzer division and two fresh infantry divisions, the Germans seemed unable to deal the decisive blow At the same time Volga boatmen were keeping communications open across the river, bringing up Russian reserves under fierce German air attacks.

Red Star said that from 600 to 1,000 planes had been bombing Stalingrad each day, piling debris on debris.

Hundreds of civilians clinging to the tumbled walls of their homes and factories were reported to have died under the continued bombings. Schools, hospitals, the public library, the university and the palace of physical culture were said to have been destroyed.

Today's mid-day communique said that the enemy had been dislodged from one village at the southwestern outskirts of Stalingrad, and Red Star said that in that southern sector three settlements had been recaptured, with Rumanian troops

GAINING: Allies Pushing Ahead Steadily In New Guinea

(By Associated Press)

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia—Australian troops were reported driving steadily up the southern slopes of New Guinea's Owen Stanley mountains today in pursuit of retreating Japanese forces after recapturing Nauro yesterday in swift 10-mile advance from Ioribaiwa ridge.

An Allied communique announcing the advance said the Japanese were abandoning additional supplies and equipment as they fell back and an Allied spokesman declared there was no doubt their withdrawal was hurried.

Strong formations of Allied attack bombers, escorted by fighters, were reported harrying the enemy supply lines in the vicinity of Menari, about four miles north of Nauro, where it was believed the Japanese might attempt a stand along a ridge.

The latest Allied advance apparently was negotiated with comparatively little opposition, for the communique said there had been no contact with the main body of the retreating forces.

An Allied spokesman said the Japanese had made no attempt to fortify their positions at Nauro as they did at Ioribaiwa

MOVE: French at Dakar to Evacuate Women and Children

(By Associated Press)

VICHY—An official source said today that Pierre Boisson, governor of Dakar, had decided to evacuate European women and children from the French West African port.

The announcement said that Boisson issued an order Sept. 29 for a census to be taken among women and children of civilian and military families which have two or more children living in the Dakar region.

(A similar announcement over the Vichy radio was heard in London Tuesday but another broadcast shortly after cancelled it without explanation.

(Axis and Vichy French propaganda recently have pumped rumors about Dakar, apparently to plant the idea that an Allied offensive against the tactically important African port is impending. The evacuation plan may be part of the build-up.)

The announcement was explained as "precautionary" although French sources stressed it as an "opportunity to decongest the city of its overcrowded European population."

French ship movements, presumably in preparation for an evacuation, were reported off Dakar and the announcement said the order was received calmly.

It was issued in the midst of sessions of the first "economic conference of Dark Africa" at Dakar, attended by representatives from all over French West Africa.

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—(U.P.)—In the case of Pfc. Roger J. Plattes, 25, of St. Paul, Minn., "It Happened One Day," instead of "One Night."

He had a day's leave of absence in which to get married, only that day they held him at camp. His fiancee, Miss Evelyn Stahl, 34, of Alexandria, Minn., arrived on the day prescribed, but Plattes, of course, was in camp instead of at the bus depot to meet her. When, finally, Plattes was able to wrench himself away from camp, his fiancee had disappeared.

An then, when all hope was lost, they met getting on and off a bus.

WANTS BIDS ON OLD SUBMARINES

But Navy Specifies That Craft Must Be Scrapped After Purchase.

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)— Want a submarine?

Before you answer the Navy explains that you cannot go to sea with it—all you can do is scrap it and dispose of the scrap.

There are six submersibles at the Philadelphia Navy Yard awaiting bids. They are old models for which the Navy has no further use. The figures on displacement give some indication of why the Navy is holding the sale. Submarines under construction are more than twice the size of the largest in this group.

If you still are interested, just write to the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, or to the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Washington, D. C., and ask for Catalogue 433-B.

If you decide to invest in one or more of these bargains remember the stipulation that it is sold "for scrapping only." The Navy has a habit of seeing that its specifications are lived up to.

HORNETS CHASE CHILDREN HOME

BRASHER FALLS, N. Y.—(U.P.)—It was the usual result when four youngsters stirred up a hornets' nest. All were violently stung.

The youngsters, ranging in age from five to eight, encountered the nest of yellow jackets while at play. The hornets pursued the children to their homes. One child had a wool suit and the hornets clung to it tenaciously.

Fifteen hornets were removed from one child's scalp where they had burrowed into the hair.

Firemen used chemicals to wipe out the hornets' nest.

CHAPTER NIGHT HELD BY WOMEN OF MOOSE

Eleven Candidates Initiated In Honor of Galion Senior Regent; Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Phipps, Miss Kirkpatrick on Program.

WHEN the war relief committee of the Women of the Moose had charge of chapter night at the lodge home last evening, Mrs. Hazel Tupps, chairman, presided. The business session was in charge of the senior regent, Mrs. Helen Perry.

Eleven candidates were initiated in honor of the chapter's official visitor, Mrs. Gladys Teetrick, senior regent of the Galion chapter. Mrs. Teetrick extended an invitation to the Mansfield members to attend a meeting in Galion on Nov. 12 in honor of Mrs. Mary Wallace, P H D, graduate grand regent and member of the national advisory board. A gift from the local chapter was presented to Mrs Teetrick.

Guest speakers for the evening were Mrs. J. L. Stevens, Mrs. Nellie Phipps and Miss Mary Kirkpatrick. Mrs. Stevens gave an interesting talk on war relief and Red Cross work. A reading presented by Mrs. Phipps was entitled, "The Grand Old Flag." Miss Kirkpatrick told about the nurses' aids organization.

For the chapter night program, the hall was patriotically decorated and garden flowers were used on the tables. Candidates, officers, escorts and committee chairmen were given patriotic pennants. A short talk was presented by Mrs. Tupps, who received a corsage from her committee.

Chief accomplishment of the war relief group is the work done for the Red Cross. The women have contributed 150 hours of sewing and have made 100 women's blouses and 10 children's snow suits. A number of the committee members have been Red Cross blood donors and several have sold war savings stamps and bonds at a local theater. The group meets for Red Cross work every Thursday afternoon.

The social service committee will appoint a delegate this week to attend the Ohio Welfare conference at the Deshler-Wallick hotel in Columbus on Oct 8 Plans were completed last night for the covered-dish dinner to be held at the hall on Oct. 5 for all of the lodge women. Date of the next regular meeting is Oct. 14

The candidates who were initiated are Mrs. Myrtle Tomlinson, Mrs Etta Thomas, Mrs Mildred Burge, Mrs. Clarita Dawson Miss Josephine Mogus, Mrs Leona Whitcomb, the Misses Margaret Rizer, Helen Kemle, Josephine Sherman, Clara Zuosee and Mrs. Florence Velzy.

War Brings Shortcuts to Beauty

By BETTY CLARKE
Wide World Beauty Editor

Working girls these days are living topsy-turvy lives Eight hours a day in a plane or munitions factory, or just doing volunteer war work, leave little time for those three-hour sessions with the hairdresser. So the girls are learning home beauty short-cuts

If you want to wash your hair when you get home at night, have it shining well-groomed and properly curled in time for work in the morning, it can be done—even if heat-rationing finds you with no hot water on hand CBS star Margo, who often finds time short between stage and radio rehearsals, shows you how:

ACTION: Massage eggs into scalp and hair. Rinse with cold water. Do twice.

FINALE: Roll curls on facial tissues. They'll be dry by morning.

INGREDIENTS: Margo assembles 3 beaten eggs, lemon and charged water.

FIZZ: Final rinse of charged water and lemon juice brings out highlights.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

The impatience in my father's tone prevented me from answering him, but all the way up the stairs his words were echoing in my ears. When safely beyond his hearing, I voiced my surprise to Dicky.

"The hideway," I said. "That means—"

"That means I'm going to have the unholy joy of witnessing a phychological third degree applied to little Carol," he said. "I only wish it were to be physical. That gal has been getting away with murder. I'd simply love to do a little arm twisting and rubber hosing."

"Yes, I can see you at it," I gibed, as I knocked at Miss Whitlock's door.

"Come in!" the nurse called. We found her and Carolyn sitting on chairs facing each other.

"We're all ready to go whenever you are," I told the nurse. She rose immediately and with her hand on the door knob turned to Carolyn.

Warns Carolyn.

"Just one last warning, Carol," she said. "If you raise your voice again, so that it can be heard beyond this room, or outside the car after we get into it, I shall put a gag in your mouth, and you'll not find that pleasant."

Ronald's sister stiffened.

"'Miss Carol,' to you," she said insolently.

The nurse laughed with tolerant amusement, and I knew that, in Dicky's parlance, she "had Carol's number."

"When you grow up," she said, "I shall be glad to attach to your name any handle you fancy, but I haven't time to bother with refractory children."

As Miss Whitlock closed the door, I carefully refrained from even glancing at Carolyn. I had no desire to goad the girl further.

I saw that Dicky, too, had his eyes averted from Ronald's sister, and for several seconds there was a heavy silence in the room. Then Carolyn spoke in words clinking like ice cubes.

Wants Information.

"I suppose it's no use asking you again to which particular prison I'm going?" she said.

"Not a bit," Dicky answered blithely, "but you can be tooting sure it will be a secure one. And I might as well tell you now that you're going to be blindfolded, so you'll have no chance to know."

"How childishly melodramatic you are!" Carolyn flamed. "But you don't impress me in the least."

"That wasn't my aim at the moment," Dicky said airily. "And by the way, Madge, we didn't tell Miss Whitlock about the blindfolding. She'll probably want to rig up something."

"I'll go and tell her immediately," I said, "unless—you don't need me here, I imagine."

"I always need thee, light of my life," Dicky intoned "But I'll spare you long enough to give your message to Miss Whitlock."

Still not looking at Carolyn, I hurried to the nurse.

Tries To Cajole Dicky.

"Sorry to bother you," I said, "but I forgot to tell you that Father wishes to have Carolyn effectively blindfolded as soon as we get in the car, and kept that way."

"I'll have everything ready," Miss Whitlock said competently, "and I think I can do a job that will suit your father."

"I am sure you can," I said, and sped back to Carolyn and Dicky.

As I opened the door I heard Carolyn's voice pleading, "Oh, Uncle Dicky, you always understood me. Please listen to me now! I need you so"

Then I saw the girl, her lithe body pressed against Dicky, her arms twined lightly around his neck, her lips close to his.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, October 2.

Fair prospects for moderate success and progress are indicated by the predominant lunar transits. There may be surprising movement in stagnant situations or disappointing conditions, but this might be rendered futile by impulsive, uncontrolled, over-strenuous or belligerent acts or speech. Such demeanor might set aside support or approval of superiors or public.

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be surprised at the sudden and unlooked-for opportunity to achieve a fair success in desired objectives. But this favorable situation might be nullified by flying into tempestous or impulsive acts or words, of a belligerent and violent nature. Superiors, employers, public or community cooperation might be withheld.

A child born on this day should have some originality and practical constructive ability, which would gain moderate success.

Health Has Reflection In the Skin

Eyes reflect the mental state. Gaiety and happiness make them shine, sadness casts a shadow over them. The skin acts as an indicator of the physical condition. When circulation is good, there is a bloom upon the cheeks. Digestive disturbances may cause the skin to be grey or sallow or spotted with a rash. A diet too rich in fats gives the order to sebaceous glands to start a revolution and the result is that the epidermis is filmed with oil. Not enough liquids often cause the skin to become dry.

When the complexion needs help the first thought is to toddle to the cosmetic counter and get something to dab on. Cosmetics play an important part in appearance. The facial hide has a tough row to hoe, being subjected to the vicissitudes of dust and grime, sunlight and strong winds. Soothing creams are comforting They keep the surface soft and smooth. But the health of the complexion, its good texture and coloring, depend to a considerable extent upon the general health. Hence the need of obeying the laws of hygienic living.

The ideal complexion is so fine and delicate of texture that pores are almost invisible. It is like that in childhood. Proper care, brisk circulation and good digestion may keep it that way for many years.

First, there is the matter of diet. Meat once a day is the rule. Meat contains B vitamins, essential minerals---iron and copper for the blood, phosphorous that is necessary for the well being of the teeth. One should have at least three eggs a week. Once a day one must have fruit juice, a green leafy vegetable, other vegetables like turnips or potatoes, a certain amount of starch, a small amount of fats and sweets. Dairy products like milk and cheese supply elements that keep energy batteries charged.

There is the matter of elimination of body wastes. There are four channels, the skin, kidneys, intestinal tract and the lungs. Bathe daily, breathe deeply, drink plenty of water, eat plenty of fruit and elimination will be normal.

Local treatment of the complexion consists of a soapy scouring every night. When suds are on, pick up the flesh and pinch it lightly. Have a thorough rinsing with warm water. Cold water will not remove the soap suds as well as warm. Dry gently, apply a heavy cream. Let it remain on overnight. Don't fancy it will grow facial fuzzers. It won't. That's just a beauty superstition.

In the morning rinse with cold water, dry gently, lave with an astringent. Witch hazel will serve. In half an hour you can play with your foundation cosmetic, put on the decorative highlights with powder, rouge and lipstick.

CUTS SELF OUT

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Blair Logue was called upon to verify in court a three-word will that cut him off from sharing in the estate of his stepmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Logue, 72, who had left a will saying, "Everything to Lottie." Lottie is Blair's sister. He testified that it was her final will and the estate went to his sister.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WHAT IS HIS LEAD?

Would you lead your partner's first-bid suit against the declarer's 3-No Trumps if you held only a singleton in it? Most especially, would you do it if he had bid two suits? You would not be very likely to, would you? If you even held singletons in both of his suits, wouldn't you be likely to lead the unbid suit or suits? Then, why not give your partner credit for applying the same principles?

	♠ J 9 5 4 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ K 7 ♣ A Q 10 3

(Dealer: West North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Dbl
Pass	2 ♠	3 ♦	3 NT

At several duplicate tables, West bid 2-Hearts over South's double, as the pairs used such a bid as indicating weakness but a good fit and a desire to impede the opponents. But, where the west hand was passed, as recorded above, which happened at two tables, a point in play devoloped immediately upon Wests leading the heart 3 against the No Trump game.

Dummy, of course, put on one card of the sequence, and it was East's turn. At one table, he played the K, and so assured the declarer making his contract. That declarer led to the club A, cashed a second and third heart trick, ran four more clubs and scored the spade A for his ninth trick.

Instead of three heart tricks, the declarer got only two at the other table, due to East's simple card reading. With the 2 in sight to him in his own hand, the heart 3 lead was bound to be either a singleton or fourth-best. He reasoned that, if it was a singleton, it would not have been led, hence it was a fourth-best. So declarer held one, surely the A. East therefore played his 6 and the A won. The K later killed one of dummy's two other heart honors, and the defenders beat the contract because South could scare up only eight tricks before his real trouble began.

WESTINGHOUSE OUTPUT HIGH, CHAIRMAN SAYS

Robertson Reports Production of Propulsion Equipment Now Doubled.

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company has doubled its production of propulsion equipment in the 10 months since Pearl Harbor, directors were told yesterday at a meeting in Pittsburgh.

A. W. Robertson, chairman of the board, said Westinghouse plants in 25 cities will produce more than $500,000,000 worth of equipment this year. This figure includes production in the Mansfield plant of Westinghouse.

At present, the plants are turning out a carload of war materials every 11 minutes

Robertson reported that deliveries by the steam division in the period totalled $50 536,000, compared with $23,998 000 in the 10 months preceding the Japanese attack

Robertson also reported that in the same period the new $26 000,000 merchant marine division was built and put into operation, four months ahead of schedule The new plant will begin mass production of equipment for ships of the U S Maritime commission within a few weeks

ANOTHER SHOCK, MR. BRONNER ?
EXACTLY! DON'T YOU THINK IT WAS A SHOCK TO LEARN THAT THE YOUNG LADY, WHO WAS DOING SUCH SPLENDID WORK FOR ME ---- 10-1
---AND WHOM I WAS JUST ABOUT TO OFFER THE POSITION OF PERSONAL SECRETARY PERMANENTLY, WAS IN REALITY AN AGENT OF THE F.B.I. ?
I'LL SAY IT WAS A SHOCK! BUT MY LOSS IS UNCLE SAM'S GAIN! I CONGRATULATE YOU ON BEING A VERY CLEVER MEMBER OF A REMARKABLE ORGANIZATION!
OH, THANK YOU - BUT - REALLY, MR. BRONNER, I'VE NOT BEEN WITH THE F.B.I. LONG — IN FACT, THIS IS MY FIRST CASE!
WELL, I'LL BET IT'S NOT YOUR LAST, THE WAY THE CHIEF OF THE DEPARTMENT WAS RAVING ABOUT YOU!
REALLY ?
AND-OH, YES, YOU'RE TO REPORT TO F.B.I. HEADQUARTERS AS SOON AS YOU CAN WIND UP YOUR WORK HERE!

$500,000 WAITS

BOSTON—(U.P.)—The Commonwealth of Massachusetts is in line to receive about $500,000 which has lain unclaimed in Bay State banks from 20 to 30 years. In addition, about $80,000 will be distributed to private citizens, many of them unaware of their accounts.

State Attorney General Robert Bushnell will complete his investigation in December and the money still unclaimed will revert to the state.

Dieppe was named Diep by early Norman settlers, because of its deep, sheltered position.

UNEVEN ROAD TRAVELLED BY STOCK MARKET

Rail Income Nearly Doubles That of Last Year, Says Carrier Report.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stocks generally traveled over an uneven highway in today's market proceedings.

Up fractionally were Boeing, Santa Fe, Chrysler, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, N. Y. Central, U. S. Rubber and Western Union. Minus signs were attached to Consolidated Edison, Montgomery Ward, Homestake Mining, International Nickel and Douglas Aircraft.

Transportation securities had the benefit of the summary of the Association of American Railroads indicating Class 1 systems in the first eight months of 1942 had aggregate net income, after interest and rentals, of $466,900,000. This compared with $298,968,000 in the like period last year.

Notice was taken of the Dun & Bradstreet compilation disclosing bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended Wednesday were a trifle under the record figure of the preceding week but were 16.4 per cent above the corresponding 1941 week. Outstanding year-to-year increases were shown by Seattle, Spokane, Ore., Denver, Omaha and Pittsburgh.

FARMER FOUND DEAD IN BED

WILLARD — Marion Spencer, 67, retired New Haven township farmer, was found dead in bed at his home on Dali avenue, early today. He had been ill with heart trouble for some time.

Surviving with the widow is one daughter, Bernice Spencer of Willard, and two sons, Glenn of Oberlin, and Gale, who was recently called for military service and is now stationed at Fort McClellan, Ala. One brother, C. J. Spencer and one sister, Mrs. Ord Smeltz, of Willard, survive.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Fink funeral home Sunday at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Paul W. Sharp, pastor of the United Brethren church, officiating. Burial will be in New Haven cemetery.

Wardens Receive Diplomas

In the accompanying photograph Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, civilian defense coordinator, is shown presenting a diploma to James Cattell, one of the 87 Second ward air raid wardens who received their certificates at ceremonies in Mansfield Senior high school last night. Diplomas will be delivered to 28 others who were unable to be present. Wardens today began establishing sector posts throughout the ward and arranging house-to-house calls to instruct all residents on air raid matters.

Plan Intensive Drive to Get 1,000 Blood Donors In County

management will be asked to bring the appeal to the attention of employes and that the latter will make their registration by telephone so as to save time and transportation and not impede production.

Key persons serving the county chapter in each township will be charged with presenting the appeal and accepting registration in their respective communities while informational booklets stating the requirements and explaining the blood donation procedure will be distributed among all first aid and home nursing classes in the county.

Two chapters in Crawford county, Crestline and Galion, have both asked to register volunteers for blood donor service after obtaining permission from the national chapter, according to Finefrock.

To facilitate registration in general the Red Cross office for the first time is accepting registration by telephone. Heretofore the volunteer was required to pay a personal call to the office

All persons within the ages of 18 and 60 are eligible to register for the blood donor service but persons under 21 must have the signed consent of their parents. No previous physical examination is necessary as examinations are given by the mobile unit staff.

The unit makes it third visit to Mansfield in November and from then on will make monthly stops in the city. On its last two-day visit in September, 230 pints of blood were obtained and on the previous visit in May, 320 pints.

This contribution on the part of Richland county helped gain for the blood donor service of the Greater Cleveland chapter, the army and navy "E" for high achievement in production.

The presentation of the awards and pins will be made by army and navy officials in Cleveland Friday night. Public ceremonies will be held in the Masonic auditorium at 8:30 p. m. Since the inception of the blood donor service in Cleveland last January a total of 32,513 pints of blood have been collected. Of this number, 14,013 have been gathered by the mobile unit traveling within an 80 mile radius of Cleveland.

Life Sentence In Organist Slaying Upheld by Court

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The life sentence imposed on Albert B. Lukens, Akron church janitor, for the murder of Ruth Zwicker, organist, was upheld by the Ohio supreme court yesterday.

Lukens, convicted of strangling the girl and cremating her body in the furnace of the church where she was practicing at a piano on Easter Saturday of 1941, sought a reversal of his conviction on the grounds that Miss Zwicker died in a fall.

The tribunal also held that the Salvation Army is not an organization devoted exclusively to charity and is not entitled to tax exemption. The organization sought to avoid payment of inheritance taxes on a legacy from the estate of William N. Wild of Akron.

Arson convictions of Charles B. Gierhardt and Cornelia Williams of Sandusky county were upheld. By refusing to review a Sandusky county decision the court affirmed a $2,000 verdict awarded Ralph H. Bennett against Weldon Berlincourt for injuries resulting from an automobile accident.

U. S. Attorney Tightens Penalty For Draft Evasion.

CINCINNATI —(U.P.)— Draft evaders in southern Ohio will be sent to the penitentiary instead of being speedily inducted into the army, under a new government policy.

Chief Assistant U. S. Attorney Vern H. Wilson said today he had learned that "word had gotten around that all you have to do is evade the draft, then when you're picked up the worst that can happen is induction."

"Such draft evaders might find themselves sent to the penitentiary for a long stretch," Wilson warned.

TWO CHERISHED GERMAN DREAMS SPOILED, CLAIM

Reds Believe Their Resistance Has Foiled Nazi Plans For 1942 Conquest.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—As October began confidence rose in both Russian and British quarters today that the sturdy Red army resistance at Stalingrad and in the Caucasus has wrecked Hitler's two most cherished aims of 1942—a new onslaught on Moscow and the conquest of Russia's rich Tiflis-Baku oil region.

The Russian attitude was demonstrated in Soviet war news, published by the Russian embassy in London, which noted that the Germans hurled 100 tank and infantry divisions against the southern front about 100 days ago.

"Having lost several dozen picked divisions, having squandered several thousand tanks and planes and having strewn every captured mile with their own dead, the Germans have failed to achieve victory," it said.

The war news asserted that Hitler, by concentrating the greater part of his equipment, had hoped "within two or three weeks" to seize the whole northern Caucasus and "set up a front stretching from Stalingrad along the Volga and Caspian sea."

Achievement of this aim, the publication pointed out, would have released troops for other tasks. And, it added, "the Nazis have not yet abandoned their hope of organizing a new offensive against Moscow."

Competent British observers regarded the latest German maneuvers as a sign that the Nazis have been compelled to abandon any idea of breaking thought the Caucasus mountains and now are striving for the more limited objective of the Grozny oil fields.

One well-posted source, who may not be mentioned by name, said the Germans were trying to work their way up the Terek river toward Gdzhonikidze. (This would be a back-tracing move from the Mozdok area following a loop of the Terek.)

This source said the shift in plan came after the Nazis had failed to advance either southward or eastward from Mozdok.

Summing up the past month's Caucasus fighting, this British informant said that the progress of the Nazis, among whom were the crack first armored army, "can hardly come up to the expectations of the high command."

Admiral Can Make Sun Rise And Set At Hour He Wants

WITH THE ATLANTIC FLEET, At Sea—(INS)—An admiral or task force commander can make the fiery orb rise and set at just about any time of day.

It's like this:

Admirals or task force commanders have the navy-given right to order the clocks on ships set forward or backward as discretion directs.

It's almost a rule of thumb to designate the war-time sunrise as about 6 a. m. The bright grinning orb may not appear over the horizon until 7 o'clock, really, but the ship timepieces are set so that when day breaks forth, all hands point to six up and down.

In peace-time it was customary to arrange the "navy sunrise" as close to 7 a. m. as possible.

But in these turbulent times, the navy isn't taking a chance on being caught napping. It begins its day early, because the break of dawn is considered an opportune moment for air and submarine attack.

Rising Sun Sinks In Pacific

Smoke blurs the insignia of the Rising Sun on this four-motored Japanese bomber as it falls into the Pacific after being mortally hit by gun fire from a Flying Fortress during an encounter in the South Pacific.

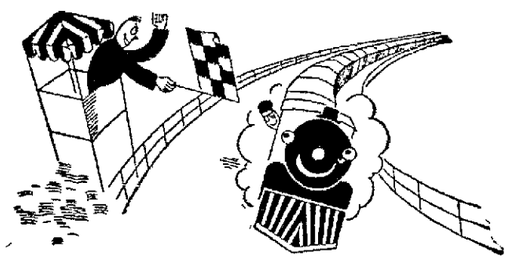
Shippers Speed Cars FOR VICTORY



As the B & O continues to set new records in the swift handling of freight to and from essential war production plants, recognition is due the shippers whose dispatch in loading and unloading cars assists in making these records possible.

These patriotic firms see the vital need for full use of every car. Like B & O's more than 50,000 employees, they realize that efficient transportation is the plus factor required to win the war.

Civilians Learn How To Fight In Guerrilla Style

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— A battalion of guerilla fighters—trained to commando-like sharpness—is being molded here from an awkward, puffing collection of factory workers, sportsmen and business men.

Fifty candidates already have begun a series of courses designed to make first-class fighters out of men who never shot at anything deadlier than a rabbit.

The organizer is Fred D. Orzen, of a Republic Steel plant's protection department, and Orzen has obtained the approval of army ordnance officials for his guerilla training.

Here's what the boys will be learning:

Jujitsu, manual of arms, drill formation, marksmanship, rifle, pistol, shotgun and automatic rifle use, knives, rope ties, wood lore, reconnaisance combat principles, camouflage, military strategy and tactics, disruption of enemy communications, incendiary bombs, grenades, first aid, trench and fox hole warfare.

ridge, highwater mark of the enemy advance. The ridge was recaptured Tuesday.

Nauro is about 42 miles airline northeast of Port Moresby, but is about 60 miles from that vital Allied base by trail.

Allied heavy bombers continued to pound Buna, main Japanese coastal base 78 miles northeast of Nauro, and the intermediate depot of Kokoda.

(The navy department in Washington announced yesterday the loss of the 8,378-ton naval transport George F. Elliott and the small auxiliary transport Gregory off Guadalcanal island in the Solomons on Aug 8 The Elliott, formerly the Baltimore mail liner City of Los Angeles, was set afire when a Japanese torpedo plane crashed into her, the communique said. Most of those aboard both vessels were reported saved)

(In another sector of the Pacific war, a Tokyo broadcast yesterday said that bitter winter already had come to the Aleutian islands, blanketing them with snow, and that unsheltered Japanese camps at the western end of the chain were being swept with biting winds)

Japs Strike At U. S. Communications

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Reports from the Solomon islands indicated today that the Japanese are trying desperately to disrupt sea communication lines to American occupation forces on Guadalcanal.

Japanese warships apparently are prowling in the waters around the southwestern Solomons in an effort to intercept American supply vessels and transports

The navy disclosed last night that the enemy succeeded in sinking the auxiliary transport Gregory by gunfire recently off Guadalcanal.

Previously Japanese destroyers and cruisers have been reported in the vicinity of American positions in the islands

The experts consider the Japanese attempt to interfere with American communications as another step in the seemingly changed enemy strategy.

Gay Chungking Pays Willkie Tribute

CHUNGKING — (INS) — The streets of Chungking were decked with banners and the American and Chinese flag today in preparation for the arrival of Wendell Willkie, carrying out a globe-girdling mission for President Roosevelt.

Banners spanned the four streets leading to the pylon in the center of this war-time capital and carried words of welcome to Willkie. One of the banners contained a message from Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek which said:

"With America we offer all we are and all we have."

Other messages said:

"Welcome to China, Mr Willkie"

"Mr. Willkie represents hands of freedom across the Pacific."

OPA STEPS INTO GAS RATE CASE

Asks Commissions to Refuse Increase at Cleveland.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—The Office of Price Administration carried its program for cost-of-living stabilization into the Cleveland gas rate field today asking the Ohio public utilities commission to refuse to grant the East Ohio Gas company's request for rate increases.

The first such OPA action in Ohio, the petition, filed in the name of Leon Henderson, OPA administrator, declared that "increases should not be permitted except in cases where the denial thereof would result in undue hardship."

OUT OF POLITICS

New Wilberforce President Sets Policy for School.

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Wilberforce university is "through with politics" and henceforth "our mission will be purely educational," Dr. Charles Wesley, new president of Wilberforce, said today.

Speaking at the 61st annual meeting of the North Ohio conference of the African Methodist Episcopal church, Wesley said that "we want Wilberforce to be a free university, independent in its thinking and administration."

'3-A' DRIVE ON

Japanese Seek to Offset V for Victory Slogan.

MELBOURNE, Australia — (UP) —Japan has opened a "three A" campaign in the Netherlands East Indies in an attempt to offset the Allied V for victory slogan, the Netherlands News agency reported today.

Japan's "three A slogans are: "Nippon as the light of Asia, Nippon as the mother of Asia, Nippon as the leader of Asia."

URGE LAW CHANGE

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Amendment of Ohio laws to remove limitations on employment of women which are "not in accord with present practices" was recommended by the Ohio League of Women Voters. A spokesman said that a statute prohibiting women from driving taxicabs was an example.

EARLY VOTE IN HOUSE ON PRICE CONTROLS SEEN

Approved Bill Expected To Be on President's Desk By Tomorrow, Report.

istration compromise, further amended and rewritten, was substituted for the labor-cost amendment. That compromise directs the president in fixing price ceilings to give "adequate weighting" to increases in farm labor costs since Jan. 1, 1941. The present parity formula remains unchanged.

Aside from that compromise, the bill further limits the field of the president's action on farm prices. It provides that he can not fix maximum farm prices for any commodity below parity—or below the highest market price paid farmers between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15, 1942

The house may ask for "adjustment" of the diffgrent versions which would require appointment of a senate-house conference committee. That might delay action, but it could be speeded if the house directs its conferees to accept the senate's compromise farm price amendment.

Although the bill passed the senate by a unanimous vote, with announcements that absent senators would have voted for it, many supporters doubted that it would work

Sen Bennett C Clark, (D, Mo) described it as a 'whopper-jawed lopsided, and cross-eyed" measure

The leaders of the "Big Four-Farm organizations—Edward A O'Neal of the Farm Bureau federation, Albert S Goss of the National Grange, H. E. Babcock of the Farm Cooperatives and Charles W. Holman of the Milk Producers—called it a compromise, and said their fight for a new and higher parity price level was over.

The farm organizations were accused by administration leaders of directing a "powerful lobby" during debate on the bill

Farm organization leaders denied that there was a "farm lobby." They accused the administration of lobbying.

One organization which has opposed the farm lobby's amendment was the National Farmers union M. W Thatcher, its legislative chairman issued a statement last night saying

"The hallabaloo raised by some farm organization spokesmen has petered out. The senate has adopted and the house should adopt the course urged by the National Farmers union leave parity alone, give the president authority to take whatever steps are necessary to insure war production of foods and fibres. Now let's get down to business on the real problem: manpower."

Mansfield Cheers Departing Draftees

Traffic on Park avenue west at Walnut street was blocked this morning as thousands of Mansfielders jammed the street to cheer a record contingent of selectees as they left to take their places in the nation's biggest army. The group was the largest ever sent by Board 1 in Mansfield The soldiers made the trip from Mansfield to Camp Perry, the new reception center, in three buses, leaving at 9:40 a. m.

Mayor's Letter Saying 'No Complaints' About Night Club Draws Retort.

night club, on the basis of "having heard no unfavorable reports" and without being requested to do so by the board

Police Chief Thomas M. Bell said this morning that the police department "had received a number of general complaints but no specific charges about the Ringside serving minors and other violations.

Asked for a copy of the letter Mayor Locke said he did not have one.

Reached in Columbus today, Hawley was asked if it was customary for mayors of other Ohio cities to intercede in behalf of persons cited on liquor violation charges by the state enforcement department.

He replied that it "very rarely happened."

The chairman said that the board does not send requests to city officials for information in regard to the status of liquor establishments cited for violations

He added that he would not discuss merits of case now pending since no decision has been made. He said the board may announce its decision this week.

He said Mayor Locke's letter is now in the board's records as a part of the evidence and that its contents could not be made known in detail until after the decision is announced.

In addition to the Ringside charges, the board has under advisement charges against Nicholas Hergatt, proprietor of the Blue Goose cafe in East Mansfield, also based on an alleged sale of liquor to a minor.

TAILOR HELD ON SHOOTING CHARGE

Ohioan Also Accused of Violating Draft Act.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Wilbur E Schultz, 61-year-old Richwood tailor, was held in city prison today on charges of violating the selective service act and of shooting with intent to kill U. S Deputy Marshal Veley Main, 52 of Delaware, at whom he fired three shots when arrested yesterday.

Main, who recovered sufficiently from bullet wounds received while making an arrest in July to return to work two weeks ago, took a revolver from Schultz after the tailor fired at him, one shot narrowly missing Main's head Schultz was charged with failure to register for the draft and making statements harmful to the government

Columbus Hospitals Use Bureau Drawers as Baby Beds.

COLUMBUS —(UP)— Seven Columbus hospitals have resorted to bureau and cabinet drawers, wash basins and incubators to accommodate the war-time bumper crop of babies.

Columbus birth records revealed today that the number of births in the first nine months of this year exceeded births in the entire year 1938, considered by statisticians to be the last "normal" year.

SLAIN AT PLANT

Ohioan Killed, Deputies Wounded In Fight Over Gun.

DOVER — (AP) — Pantaleo Sica, 62, was shot and killed and two sheriff's deputies were wounded in a gun battle at the Reeves Steel and Manufacturing company yesterday.

John Blake, 45, was wounded in the left thigh and King Hiller, 43, in the right knee. Sheriff John McIntosh said the deputies went to the war plant after Sica was seen carrying a pistol and the Italian-born laborer opened fire when the officers ordered him to surrender the gun.

"Unless drastic measures are taken there will be a decrease next year under the 1940 and 1941 in the amount of agricultural production"

He said Wickard was "deluding the nation" when he talks of greatly increased food production. He added that the secretary of agriculture has failed to mention that there are many acres of crops that will not be harvested this fall because of a farm labor shortage

Farmers were asked last spring to increase their acreage of food crops in a "food-for-freedom" program under the direction of an agricultural war board in each county.

Board 2 will send a large group next Monday morning. Its contingent will leave at 9.40 a. m. by bus for Camp Perry.

FOUNDER OF MAY STORES, 85, DIES

Louis Beaumont Stricken In New York After Long Illness.

NEW YORK — (UP) — Louis D Beaumont, founder of the May Department Stores company, died today in the New York hospital here following an extended illness He was 85.

Beaumont, who had been in the hospital for treatment for the past two months, began his career in Denver, Colo., where in 1880 he established a retail store, the forerunner of the present company.

In later years, he took over the Famous-Barr company, St Louis, Mo., and the Hull and Dutton store, Cleveland, the M. O'Neil company, Akron, O., the Hamburger Co., of Los Angeles, and the Leader store of Baltimore, Md. All companies today are known as the May company, except for the St. Louis and Akron concerns.

SENATE WIVES PUT MEN BACK

They Put Farm Bloc In Back Seat—for Day At Least.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — It took the wives of United States senators to make the farm bloc lobby take a back seat

Farm organization leaders told the story today. Just before the senate vote yesterday the farm lobbyists started for seats in the two front rows of the gallery.

"I might as well tell you now," the doorman said as he stopped them, "that you'll have to sit in the two back rows. The senators' wives don't want you in those front seats If you sit there it will be my neck" thrown into panic in one place.

Another height was seized in the Russian relief offensive northwest of Stalingrad, where several Axis divisions were reported massing in support of the drive already estimated to be employing as many as 500,000 German troops.

Captured railways helped the Germans in the transport of men and supplies Red Star said more than 1,000 planes were engaged in the effort to conquor Stalingrad, now in its 38th day of siege.

Secretary A. Chuianov of Stalingrad's Communist party committee reported in a dispatch to Moscow that Stalin's words had played a definite role in the stubborn defense.

The newspaper Pravda said thousands of civilians were aiding the Red army troops in street battles. Dozens of tanks and other implements of war were reported assembled in bomb-damaged factories and sent into the fray.

Volga river sailors and dock workers continued at their jobs, moving troops and supplies despite aerial raids.

Red Star stressed the gravity of the defense position by the statement that the "most decisive moment" had arrived, yet dispatches were heavy with details of Russian heroism. Hundreds of civilians have lost their lives.

One account said the defenders would stand to fight and die if necessary but would never surrender.

The noon communique admitted one reverse elsewhere on the long front. The invaders wedged into Soviet positions in one sector of the western Caucasian battle zone southeast of Novorossisk.

The Russian army of the central Caucasus, standing guard in the Mozdok region before approaches to the Grozny oil fields and strategic mountain passes, was officially declared to be "repelling all enemy attacks and inflicting heavy losses."

Believe Nazis Plan Last Desperate Drive

LONDON—(AP) Competent observers closely following developments on Germany's eastern front today interpreted Adolf Hitler's speech of yesterday as meaning that the Germans would make one more all-out attempt to take Stalingrad and the Grozny oilfields and then stabilize the front for the winter.

These observers, whose anonymity is required, expressed a belief that Hitler had already started withdrawing troops from inactive zones of the east to reinforce Marshal Rommel in Africa and the forces holding Italy, France and Norway against the prospect of an Allied second front.

Germans Reported Out of Bombs

LONDON—(INS)—German planes were reported today to be dropping sewing machines, ploughshares and barrels of tar on the defending Stalingrad because of a shortage of bombs, a dispatch to Reuters news agency from Moscow said.

This novel means of bombarding Soviet forces had to be undertaken, it was said, since difficulties in communications have prevented the arrival of bombs in sufficient quantities at German base airdromes

Freezing of used tires and tubes in the hands of their present owners is a preparatory step to more rigid rationing, according to announcements from Washington. New and recapped tires already are being rationed.

Restrictions go into effect Monday on six types of rubber boots and work shoes. Advent of October also brings a voluntary meat rationing program and fuel oil rationing becomes necessary because of transportation difficulties and increased demands by the armed forces.

In the local speed crusade, Ralph D. Eckert, Mechanicsburg, Pa., was arrested by Patrolman Charles Letizia for speeding 65 miles an hour on Ashland avenue.

Herman Davis, Cleveland, was charged by Patrolman Earl Korn with speeding 48 miles on Ashland road Patrolman Richard Hecht cited Robert Shaffer, 588 Marion avenue, for speeding 47 miles on that thoroughfare.

Ronald G. Dagain, Galion, was cited by Hecht for violating the yellow traffic lane stripe on Park avenue west.

All hearings were set for next week. Eckert posted bond of $16.30 and waived hearing.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW CREAMY-COLOR BREAD?

HAVE YOU TASTED ITS THRILLING "PATENTED FLAVOR"?
LOOK AT THE COLOR... LIKE CREAM

You Can't Beat The Taste Of "Patented Flavor" Bread

Women Quitting Old Kinds For It At The Rate Of 5,000 A Week Now!

Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

THERE is no other like it. That's the reason you cannot beat the taste of this amazing new "patented flavor" bread. Which has already taken the place of ordinary white bread in many thousands of American homes. For these two reasons:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

ONLY WONDER BREAD HAS "PATENTED FLAVOR"

Because Only Wonder Bread Is Made This Way From Earle Patented Process Flour Under U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new kind at the rate of over 5,000 a week now.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

See how much longer "patented flavor" Wonder Bread stays fresh in the bread box; how much longer sandwiches stay fresh in the lunch box.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be surprised and thrilled with it.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1942.

Motorists are being told that the slogan, "Keep 'em rolling!", doesn't refer to automobiles.

It was the supply of coal—not coffee—that was to be bought for the winter—remember?

As for the Washington game, an onlooker hardly knows whether to yell—"Block that kick" or "Kick that bloc."

Talk May Jeopardize Second Front

ALL CIVILIAN agitation for a "second front" in Europe undoubtedly presupposes military readiness for successful operation of such action.

Nothing could be more disastrous just now than opening a second front without adequate equipment of ships, planes, tanks, guns, supplies, and trained manpower, to carry the war right on into Germany, with a view to quickly annihilating resistance.

Just what it is hoped to accomplish by public clamor for a second front is not clear, and it will be noted that Wendell Willkie, while in Moscow, went no further than to urge the importance of a second front "at the earliest possible moment which our military leaders will approve."

From London Prime Minister Churchill emphasized the undesirability of public statements or speculation as to the time or place of future Allied offensive operations.

In the United States, of all places, there should be no civilian insistance on a second front until production of war materials has come much nearer reaching requirements of fighting forces already in action.

Reporting yesterday, Production Chief Donald M. Nelson said: "We must do more, and we must do it in a hurry. We must exert unheard of efforts . . ."

Revelation that losses in the Dieppe raid amounted to almost half of the participating force gives an idea of the high toll in casualties that may be expected when the actual second front land invasion of Europe comes—and also argues strongly that decision as to when and where this action will be taken must be military, not civilian.

35-Mile Speed Limit Now In Effect

THERE MAY be some confusion, temporarily, over the 35-mile speed limit, which becomes effective today, because of conflict with Ohio law, which permits a maximum of 50 miles an hour on highways outside of city limits.

There can be no doubt, however, that under wartime powers President Roosevelt can make the 35-mile limit applicable throughout the country and Governor Bricker has indicated intention to order strict enforcement, in the event of such presidential action.

Michigan's Governor Van Wagoner has gone a step further by proclaiming a "state of emergency," and moved at once to enforce the 35-mile limit.

What is probable, despite temporary complications as to enforcement, is that all sensible motorists will voluntarily conform to the 35-mile restriction from now on—and that driving at such excessive speeds as 70 or 80 miles an hour, for which some recent arrests have been made, may well be considered prima facia evidence of intoxication or lunacy.

Within Mansfield city limits the 35-mile maximum presents no enforcement problem, as that is the legal top speed in the city, with a 25-mile limit on streets that are not part of state or federal highways.

More Coal Production Needed

WITH MANY people in this country concerned about their winter's fuel supply, Harold L. Ickes, as "Solid Fuels Coordinator," has been calling producers and union representatives to talk things over. He wants longer working hours.

"Increased working hours are necessary," says Mr. Ickes, "in order to maintain current production in some areas. It is anticipated that soon the entire industry will have to work longer hours to supply expanded war-time needs. It will be necessary for the mines to maintain full production from now on."

Much depends on what John L. Lewis and his miners think about that. Little has been heard from John L. lately, but he is supposed to have been nursing a grudge.

As for coal production, there is of course plenty of coal in the ground. The only question is how energetically it will be dug and delivered. The United Mine Workers have been digging coal 35 hours a week: They call it 40 hours, because they say they have to spend an hour a day preparing for their work and leaving it.

That is much shorter than their working week was in the last war. And it is not on record that any nation ever won a crucial war by working only 40 hours a week.

Victims of Tax Inequalities

THE NEW income tax bill, as worked out so far, will hit large incomes very heavily, and give a severe jolt to medium incomes, but leave lesser incomes almost untouched.

The pressure will be hardest on the so-called middle and professional classes. Doctors, dentists, lawyers, newspaper men, educators, and so on, will mostly worry along with about the same incomes but paying much heavier taxes. The fortunate fellows up to the present have been the well-paid wage-earners, many of whom are now making far more money than they ever made before, but are so far almost exempt from income taxes.

It would not be so annoying to other groups if these war-time beneficiaries regularly invested their excess earnings in war bonds. Instead, many of them spend their surplus money on the dwindling supply of "luxury goods" available, thus forcing up prices and hastening inflation.

"It is estimated that the annual milk supply of this country would fill a river 3,000 miles long, 40 feet wide and four feet deep"—but what good would that do?

It is now revealed that South Seas cannibals never eat anyone to whom they have been introduced—and thus does the Emily Post influence gradually extend.

The war may end in victory next year—if plans are made to carry it through another five or ten years, if necessary.

For a while Italy was wondering "What it would get out of the war"—but now it is merely asking, "when."

It appears likely that some of the incompetents who have muddled the rubber situation will be bounced.

And just to think—there was a time when all this country needed was "a good 5-cent cigar"!

WHY THE SECOND FRONT ISN'T IN ACTION

U. S. Planes Effective In Battle

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—Technical superiority of German, Japanese, and above all, the British Spitfire, to our fighter planes has been conceded by experts, who note, notwithstanding, that in actual combat our fighter planes always shoot down more of the enemy planes than they lose of their own.

But this is only part of the story. Actually the army is now getting produced two and the navy one airplane which the experts think will equal, if not surpass, any fighting planes in the world. The great importance of this, although the quantity production of these three new fighter planes is not large yet, is that they combine the same sturdiness, fire power and protection for crews which makes our fighter planes so valuable in combat.

This adds up to the new planes having "technical" superiority to the Nazi and Jap planes as well as the effectiveness already attained in our planes which have fought. The "technical" points on which experts have rated our planes last are chiefly high altitude, speed and maneuverability.

THE LAYMAN might well ask what good is technical superiority to a Zero, or a Messerschmidt, if the enemy always loses more planes than we do? There is no particular point in answering that question, especially as the writer is inclined to agree with the lay verdict as against the expert.

The fact remains that the Nazi and Jap fighters, and of course the British, can attain greater altitude, and are more maneuverable, than United States fighter planes which have been tested in action. But the sturdier construction of the United States planes has enabled them to attack more according to plan and direction, and to get home safely when without these instruments they might be lost, either at sea or over enemy territory.

Both the Nazis and the Japs have sacrificed instruments, sturdy construction, and protective armor—if it be permitted to call the thin sheets of metal protecting our fighter pilots armor—for the sake of that greater altitude and maneuverability which they have attained.

Just as the British have sacrificed fire power, altitude and protection for their big bombers in order to make possible greater bomb and fuel-carrying capacity than our Flying Fortresses.

THE ANSWER is the same in both cases. More Flying Fortresses come back. It is a serious question, and will become more serious as the bombing of Germany increases, whether the American idea is not the better.

As far as the fighting planes are concerned, however, both army and navy believe firmly that the new creations, already in production on a small scale, will please the expert critics as well as bring home the bacon in actual combat. And that small scale production will become large scale very shortly indeed.

Listen World!

Women War Workers

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

Howard Donahue Lee Speaking As Columnist for the Day.

THIS TIME it's Howard Donahue Lee, a married defense worker with two children, employed in an aircraft plant, who is broadcasting some notions which should give us all pause. Says he:

"I listen to all this post-war peace talk, these endless discussions about how they're going to get along with England and Russia, China and the other United Nations when the fighting is over. These plans for a new democracy. I agree, it's well to look forward to such problems. But why don't more of us look at the difficulties which will face us right here at home?

"For example, these women war workers. Our factories are crowded with them, and I say hat's off to them for their splendid response to their country's need. There are some misfits among them, as there are among the men, but on the whole they are extremely efficient and intelligent. Moreover they are enjoying their jobs. They find war work a great relief from the monotony of housework or the usual office routine. And I agree with you that women are even more eager for industrial excitement and adventure than men, since they have been shut away for so long from a free life.

"But what is this freedom and adventure going to do to the mothers and wives of America? Are these girls planning to leave their factory jobs when Johnny Doughboy comes marching home? Will they step back meekly and take their place in some kitchen or dingy office?

"I think not, Elsie. A lot of them are just out of school, and their defense jobs as welders, riveters, etc., are the first positions they've had. And sister, I'm telling you, they are going to stick, just as they stuck after the last war.

"Also, many women in these jobs have husbands in the service. Some of these husbands won't return, or will return incapacitated for hard labor. Their wives will want to stay on at work. Should they be allowed to do so or forced to live on the pension the government may give?

"Remember, I'm respecting these fine women workers as much as I respect their brothers and husbands. But what's going to happen to marriage and industry when the big fight is over?"

Howard Lonahue Lee
1120 Hewitt Way,
Baltimore, Maryland

Mighty useful thinking, brother! But I for one am not worried about marriage. Marriage has had a lot of hard sledding since it began. It has functioned under all sorts of different circumstances and it has adapted itself to countless emergencies. Yet it has always emerged triumphant.

Superficially, marriage has never been the same in any two generations. We will never again see the homes of grandpa's day and we'd be bored pink if we did. Nor will the chancey domestic arrangements of war times continue. We'll have all kinds of new programs . . . day nurseries, community kitchens, a world in which both men and women have a chance to love and work as free citizens. And I truly believe they will be far more sane, happy and economical than our present system.

Changing conditions are no menace to marriage. Love, loyalty and faith will stand firm forever if given a chance. The only thing that can menace marriage is stupidity, malice and unfairness.

And you can bet on this: there will be enough work to do after the war for every busy hand and willing heart. If this nation is going to flop, because its wives and mothers prefer to drive rivets rather than make pies, it should surrender to the Japs right now. But it won't.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Oct. 1, 1922.

It was noted that 20 days had passed without rainfall in Mansfield and that there was no killing frost in September.

Mrs. Cora McEowen, 274 West Fourth street, was injured by being struck by automobile while crossing street.

Rev. Herbert S. Garnes preached first sermon as pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church.

Miss Vera Baker and Robert S. Barker were married at the bride's home, 485 Bowman street.

Mrs. Sophia Stoner, East Mansfield, entertained at a family dinner on her 50th birthday anniversary.

Miss Doris M. Dorman and James B. Borden were married by Rev. R. F. Doescher.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hoffman, 567 Bowman street; son to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bergy, 159 South Foster street.

TODAY IN HISTORY

German troops, under the command of Colonel-General von Leeb, at 2 p. m. this date, 1938, crossed the Czechoslovak frontier in the Bohemian forest between Helfenberg and Finsterau in accordance with arrangements made following conferences between Hitler and Chamberlain, and agreements reached by Daladier and Mussolini "to preserve the peace of Europe."

Great Britain Grimly Determined To Speed War to Victorious End

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

(Editor's Note—DeWitt MacKenzie, Wide World's noted war analyst, now is in London after a transatlantic flight and the following is his first article on observing wartime Britain. He will proceed to other war zones, when governments and news developments permit.)

LONDON—The most important thing your correspondent can report from his initial glance at this wartime Britain is that John Bull and his wife and youngsters—that is, the civilian rank and file—not only are amazingly fit but grimly anxious to get speedily ahead with the bloody work before them.

The spirit of offensive is everywhere.

This is the first chance I have had to size up Britain at close range since January, 1939. That was soon after little Czechoslovakia was sent to the sacrificial altar by the Munich appeasement pact and less than a year before the Hitlerian Frankenstein cut loose his monster on an unprepared world.

One had expected to find changes, of course, but here is a great metamorphosis of the man in the street.

Here is a new John Bull—and I know my Briton, having been with him in war and peace through long years in many parts of the globe.

Small things often signal big developments.

At the risk of being called fanciful, I'm going to confess to being mightily impressed during the short time I've been here at an odd circumstance: I haven't seen a single fat, or even plump, person.

Now, that is a matter of importance when you figure why, for while Britons as a whole don't run to avoirdupois, there always have been plenty of stout persons about, and the traditional John Bull is ample of waist.

I don't mean to picture a people gaunt from hunger. They're well enough fed, though on pretty tight rations. But the whole population has trained down to the fineness of athletes.

I get the impression, too, that the people might be overtrained. They have been so long set, tensely waiting for the word to go get Hitler, that they are beginning to suffer a bit from the strain, like a runner poised for a tardy-starting gun.

That is a condition which can only be cured when the Allies are ready for all-out offensive action.

I was wafted into the midst of this new Britain on the wings of a transatlantic clipper.

AS WE CAME down in this streamlined Britain, I couldn't help a backward glance at my first arrival here in January, 1916, during the last World war.

Back in those primitive days we had wallowed across the Atlantic in a funny little tub of 6,000 tons.

Then, as now, the Allied cause was fairly battered.

General Sir Douglas Haig, who later was to become Field Marshal Lord Haig, had just replaced General Sir John French as British commander in chief in France. The Gallipoli campaign just had ended in festering disaster. A few months later the Kaiser was to inaugurate the submarine campaign which all but cost the Allies the war.

Then, as now, the people of Britain were grimly determined to see it through.

But there was a vast difference in the circumstances. The war was far away—just as it is to us in America today.

True, there was some enemy bombing of Britain and casualties rolled back from the front. Still—fighting was overseas, and civilians did not get the feel of it.

In this day of blitzkriegs and 8,000-pound bombs and huge clippers that span oceans, however, this war is to be carried into every town and home. The individual doesn't go to war. The war comes to him.

The sum of all this is that when the Allied high command feels the time has arrived to open that fiercely debated second front, the British people will be ready to jump to the guns.

So far as the troops are concerned, they long have been fretting to see action.

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

(Last of a Series)

WASHINGTON — The United States has had its share of wars but this is the first one it ever went into with the overall machinery already running for taking care of the veterans who emerge from it.

At last report, nearly two months ago, the Veterans Administration had received for hospitalization (presumably men who would not be fit to resume service after short periods in army or navy hospitals) 862 veterans of World war II. It is a safe guess that now the number is well over 1,000.

The Veterans administration was established in 1930, a consolidation of the old U. S. Veterans bureau, the Bureau of Pensions, the National Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, and other agencies. Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, recognized as the ablest authority on veterans affairs this country has produced, is its administrator. It has more than 100 field offices, hospitals and clinics scattered all over the country.

THE size of the Veterans Administration task ahead may be guessed from this statement in the Congressional "Handbook for Service Personnel of World War II": "If the number of veterans of the present war should be approximately the same as for World War I and the benefits provided for them about the same as those granted other veterans under present legislation, the total cost for all veterans and their dependents would be about $2,000,000,000 a year."

Take into consideration that military experts are now talking of an armed force twice to three times that of World War I and the prespective veterans bill soars to something like three billion a year.

THE machinery for administering veterans' benefits already is running. For most of those benefits, the veterans of World War II automatically or by laws already passed become eligible. This includes payments for service-connected disabilities, ranging from $10 to $100 a month. It includes many kinds of medical treatment, hospitalization and domiciliary care.

Congress, in addition, went out of its way to try to pass a law that would make it obligatory for employers to give men drawn into the services their jobs and seniority back when the war is over. They even provided that veterans so denied their jobs may file complaints, without charge, with the U. S. district attorney in their district, to force employers to rehire them.

Liberal concessions are made to veterans to take civil service examinations for government employment.

It's quite evident the veteran of World War II will have the jump on his dad in seeing that he isn't brushed aside when peace comes again.

Man About Manhattan

Message Bearer

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Every time it is announced that Kay Kyser intends making a personal appearance with his band at an army camp, he receives between 500 and 1,000 letters from mothers, wives, and sweethearts, begging him to look up their sons, husbands and fiances, so that they can shake hands and say hello personally.

Kyser goes all out for pleasing the folks back home, just as he does the camps. He prepares a list of the names given him in these letters and after the program, these men are brought forward and Kay shakes hands with each of them and relays the messages sent them by their ever lovin' women folk.

DORIS DUDLEY, blond actress daughter of a New York drama critic, has a theatrical reputation as being altogether irrepressible. Ina Claire summed Doris up by saying, "She'll be a legend before her time." However, Doris has puzzled the critics by alternately giving magnificent performances and others not so magnificent. Currently, she is appearing in a film to be called "City Without Men," and when she went to Hollywood her employers said they hoped she would forget her screwball-ism. Doris agreed to be a good girl.

In one of the scenes of this film Miss Dudley was to be kissed by Michael Duane, but instead of waiting for Duane she seized the young man and did the embracing herself. The director was angered. "Why do you do that when it is he who is supposed to kiss you?" shouted Sid Salkow.

Miss Dudley lowered her long lashes until they rested lightly on her cheeks. "Can I help it if I'm affectionate?"

ON THE DARK and slushy days that come down on Manhattan, such as today, with the wind whipping and the rain stinging, most people duck their heads and face it scowlingly. Occasionally, however, you run into a real sunny disposition who is actually enjoying the bad weather. Reason: these are hay fever victims. The pollen has been washed away. Temporarily, the sneezes are out of order.

Another point; more and more you see people carrying boxes of cleansing tissues under their arms in lieu of hankies. Hay fever victims find them a boon. They are not what others think. You see them on the avenue or on buses with their boxes of cleaning tissues under their arms any time.

A Farmer's Diary

When Rhody Backslid

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

GREAT UNCLE MALACHI was a church man—that is, he was enrolled as a member at the little white country church which stood at one edge of his fertile farm—but it was Rhoda, his wife, who "could pray enough for us both, which is one reason why I married her," he would say. And quiet Rhoda would smile, put on her quaint oldtime bonnet, and lead the way to the meeting house. Except once.

That summer the wheat crop was heavy. It rained every day for two weeks. Wheat was ripe—dead ripe. Then came a hot, clear Saturday and the grain needed hauling in.

That night Uncle Malachi went to the nearest village and hired every man he could find who would work on Sunday. "I hired infidels and Adventists," he was wont to tell it. "Infidels didn't care and Adventists thought Sunday had been over with on Saturday, so I worked 'em together."

On Sunday morning when the church bell rang, four teams were in the field behind the church to haul Uncle Malachi's grain up to the barn. They lumbered back and forth all day, and by night every stalk of wheat was under roof. The community was aghast. They talked of ousting Malachi from church, of prosecuting him for Sabbath desecration. And Rhoda, too, had "backslidden."

"These men must eat," she had said, and put her bonnet on the shelf to get one of her famous dinners.

The next day it rained again, and the next, and the next. Much of the wheat was spoiled. That fall, the only good seed wheat for miles around was that harvested on the Sabbath day by great Uncle Malachi.

"Mebbe the Lord meant you to do it, Malachi," said a pious neighbor, when he took home his seed.

Uncle Malachi scratched his bald pate. "Some folks has been made with hoss sense," he declared, "and some has got consciences. A few, like my Rhody, has mebbe got both. I knew I was doin' right when Rhody hung up her bunnit and put her apron on. I knew she'd prayed all night.

"There ain't no use in a man like me prayin', if by a little hard work I can make my own prayers come true. That'd be an insult to the Almighty. Besides, Joe"—Uncle Malachi's blue eyes twinkled—"if you remember, the Lord himself used to get him an ass, if he wanted to go somewhere quick, or get somethin' special done!"

ONE OF OLDEST GALION SHOPS PLANS CLOSING

Marsh Photographic Studio, Founded in 1898, To Quit Oct. 15.

GALION—Oct. 15 will see the closing of one of the oldest business establishments in Galion, the C. Burr Marsh and Son, photographic studio.

Mrs. Robert W. Marsh, proprietress since the death of Robert Marsh on Aug. 8, announced Wednesday that because of the war restrictions on supplies as well as shortage of competent photographers, she had decided to close the business.

The studio was established in April, 1898, and has been located at its present site on Harding Way East since 1918. Charles Burr Marsh, the original owner, who died in 1941, was listed Who's Who in Professional Portraiture In America, a book which named 106 of the nation's 10,000 photographers. The work of the studio has taken many prizes at national photographic conventions.

Robert Marsh, son of the founder, was active in the firm from 1914 until his death. Since August Mrs. Robert Marsh has continued the work with the aid of Emma Hartmann, Crestline photographer.

A MESSAGE TO THE PUBLIC

Regarding This Gift-Offer

Many people are familiar with newspaper gift-offers — special offers whereby a valuable article is obtained for a very small sum of money PLUS a certain number of coupons clipped from a newspaper.

During the past 15 years, most of these newspaper gift-offers were originated and conducted for the newspapers by the Publishers Service Company of New York City.

Today, with most newspapers at their all-time highs in circulation, few newspapers require any special gift-offers to stimulate circulation, with the result that Publishers Service Company is now going direct to the public with its sensational gift-offers that ordinarily would be made only under newspaper sponsorship.

This present offer enables the public to obtain a highly desirable 30-volume encyclopedia at small cost. The first volume of the encyclopedia is ABSOLUTELY FREE, without any cost or obligation whatever. The handsome book cabinet which encases the encyclopedia is also FREE after you have obtained all of the volumes.

This offer comes direct from Publishers Service to the public. Therefore, it will not be necessary to clip any coupons from the newspapers, as was required in the past when we enabled hundreds of thousands of families to own the complete works of Charles Dickens, the complete works of Mark Twain, giant unabridged dictionaries, and many other cultural luxuries for the home.

In presenting the renowned Nelson's Encyclopedia on the book-a-week plan, and at such amazingly small cost, all we ask is that you agree that you are obtaining this Encyclopedia for the use of your family in your own home and not for the purpose of reselling the books or cabinet at a profit.

The World-Famous NELSON'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

30 VOLUMES—12 MILLION WORDS
70 THOUSAND SUBJECTS—6,000 ILLUSTRATIONS

Complete and Unabridged

EDITED AND COMPILED BY 446 OF THE WORLD'S FOREMOST EDUCATORS

More than 50,000 educators, libraries, schools, colleges and homes have chosen the famous Nelson's Encyclopedia as their reference work. Its nine thousand six hundred pages include information about every subject in the realm of man's knowledge, written in a direct, intelligible way. Its six thousand photographs, drawings, full-color maps, charts and fine reproductions dramatically enliven the text.

For the student it provides the answers to the thousands of questions that come up during the course of an average school semester, on such divergent subjects as battleships, cellophane, photography, submarines, television and literally hundreds of other important and fascinating topics.

For the business and professional man concerned with such topics as aeronautics, air conditioning, housing, social security, or taxation, it provides the information essential to many of the complex problems confronting him from day to day.

For the active woman of today, faced with a host of brand-new problems, whether diatetics or insulation, plastics or vitamins, the Nelson's Encyclopedia furnishes many important and vital facts in compact and practical form.

For every member of the family, the Nelson's Encyclopedia furnishes an almost endless fund of knowledge and a wealth of facts indispensible to alert, well-informed persons of every age.

Besides the tremendous scope of its contents, the Nelson Encyclopedia is distinguished by its rich appearance and durable binding.

The Cabinet Is FREE as Part of the Encyclopedia

This wonderful Encyclopedia is incased in its own special cabinet. THE CABINET IS YOURS! FREE! after you have obtained the various volumes as they are issued, week by week. Notice the illustration on the oposite page. Picture this Encyclopedia in your home—a thing of true beauty, as well as one of the greatest reference works in all the world.

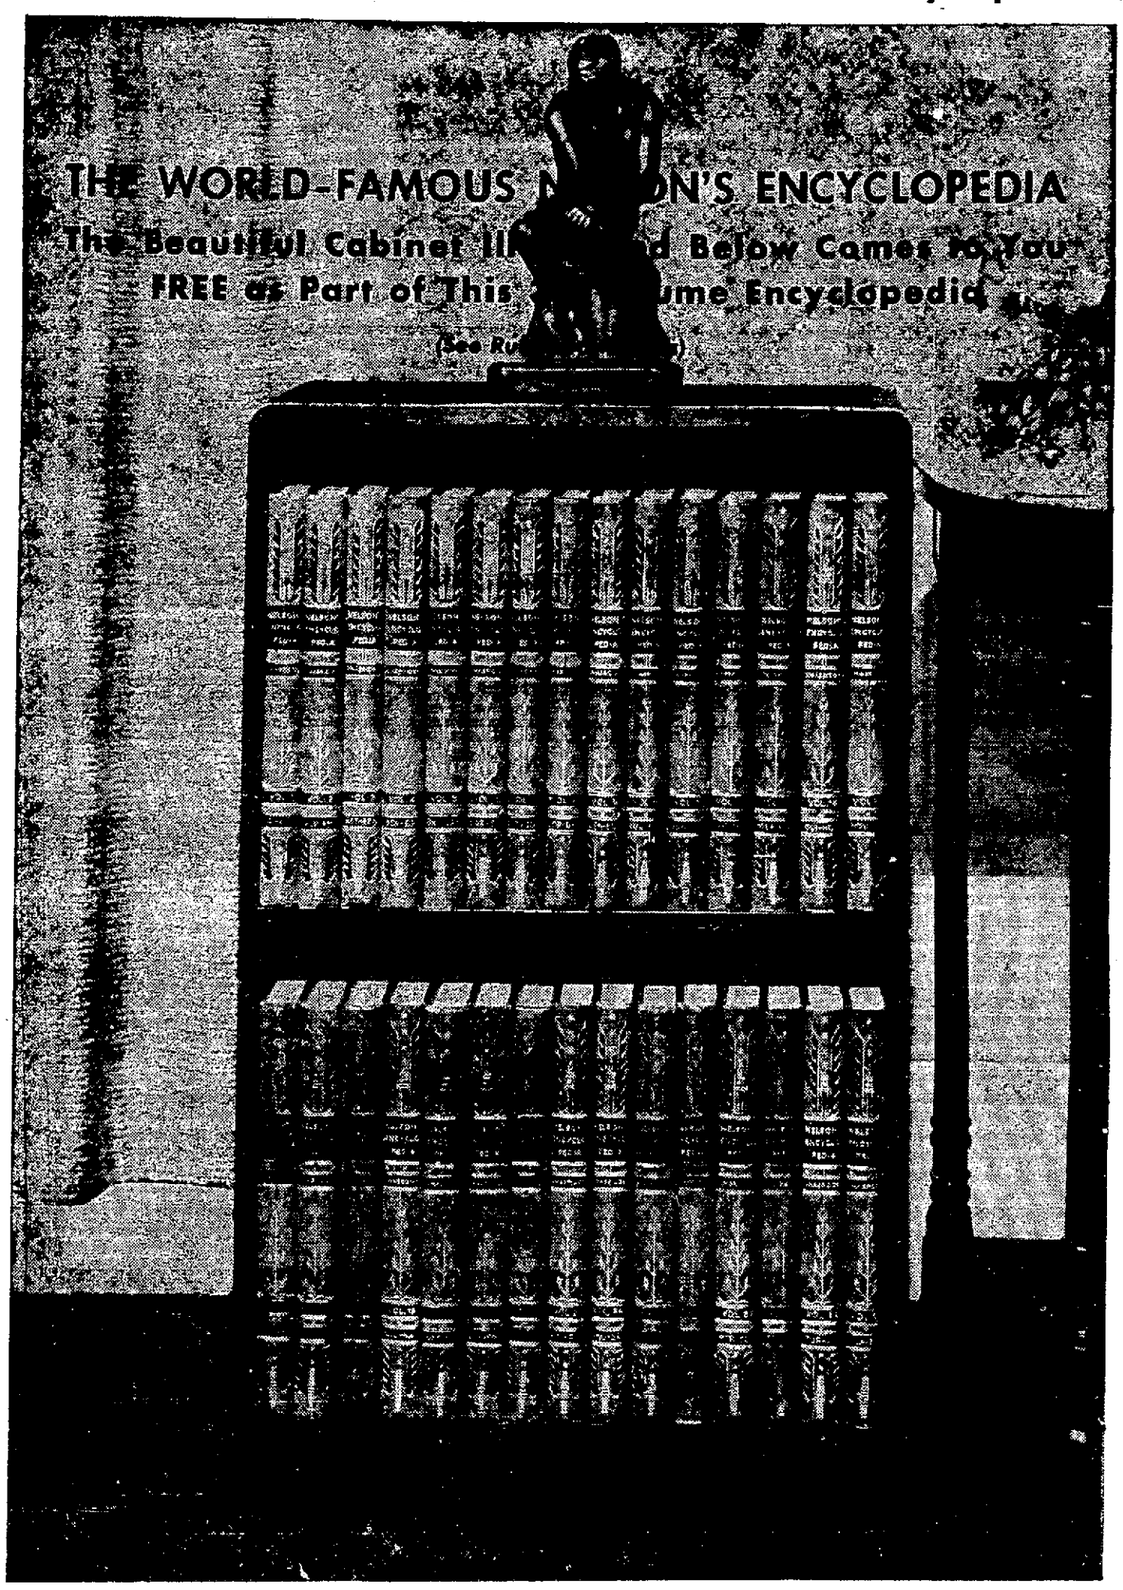
The Complete, Unabridged 30 Volume Nelson's Encyclopedia



Today Send for Your FREE Volume No. 1

NOW! Readers of The Mansfield News-Journal Are Enabled To Secure -- Almost as a Gift -- One of the 3 Finest Encyclopedias In the English Language

Today, the readers of the Mansfield News-Journal are invited to act on the newest and greatest Gift-Offer of America's foremost newspaper service.

Today, we offer you an opportunity to own—almost for the asking—one of the 3 finest Encyclopedias in the English language. And to give you an idea of the value and virtues of this fine Encyclopedia, we ask you to accept and examine the First Volume of this magnificent reference work with our compliments—absolutely FREE!

Superlatives are unnecessary in describing a monumental reference work such as the 30-Volume Unabridged Nelson's Encyclopedia. This Encyclopedia should be compared only with the finest in the world, irrespective of cost. More than 70,000 subjects are covered with the 6,000 accompanying illustrations. Nothing can be as appealing or convincing about this encyclopedia as the plain, simple facts themselves.

That is why, under the terms of this gift-offer, the 1st Volume is YOURS! FREE! ABSOLUTELY FREE! WITHOUT ANY OBLIGATION OF ANY NATURE WHATSOEVER.

YOURS . . . A VOLUME A WEEK

. . . And the First Volume Is Absolutely Free!

Yes, the first volume of this Encyclopedia is yours FREE! Absolutely FREE! It does not cost you a penny. You do not have to buy any other book to get it. It is yours to own and keep forever, without any obligation of any kind. Simply send for the first volume by mailing the coupon in the lower right corner of this page.

Then, if you want the rest of the Encyclopedia, you can obtain the succeeding volumes easily and conveniently, as released week by week, at the incredibly small cost of 99c per volume. By collecting your set, a-volume-a-week, your family will soon own a world-famous, valuable encyclopedia, encased in a beautiful cabinet which comes to you FREE.

Why We Offer You Volume No. 1 Free

We know that in describing this Encyclopedia to you, we could safely employ the most glowing terms, the most laudatory descriptions. We know that we could write a colorful story of the virtues of this Encyclopedia . . . its completeness . . . its comprehensive, accurate coverage of more than 70,000 subjects. We could give you infinite details as to the authority of its content, and the background of its editorial board of 446 eminent educator-contributors, whose names are well known to you.

We could tell you hundreds, yes, thousands of facts that make the Nelson's Encyclopedia one of the most desirable libraries of information in the world.

Yet, no matter how much we wrote or what we said, we could not even begin to tell you as much about this Encyclopedia as you can learn simply by taking a copy of Volume No. 1 in your hands and examining it for a few minutes. Once you hold the first volume in your hands, and realize what a treasure is in store for you at an incredibly small cost, we know that you will acclaim this Gift-Offer as a Public Service of true importance—as will ninety-nine people out of a hundred.

KANSAS FARMER HAS DESIGNED TUBELESS TIRE

He Just Pumps Air Into the Casing and Rolls Merrily Along to Market.

(By International News Service)

KANSAS CITY—While thousands are seeking other occupations for lack of tires, Joe Ruppert, 76-year-old Blue Springs farmer, is conducting "business as usual," carting his eggs and chickens to market on tubeless tires of his own ingenious design.

Ruppert contributes to the war effort by showing other farmers, without charge, how to make their tires tubeless when old inner tubes succumb to wear.

Faced with the dilemma of worthless tubes and a load of poultry ready for the market, the aged farmer struck on the idea of making his tires, which still had a little tread, hold air without tubes.

He dismounted the two rear tires on his 1929 model Ford and took out the much-patched tubes. Then he cut a strip off the old tube and inserted it between the tire's beads and the rim to form a seal.

Next he took an old type metal valve stem and placed it in the hole in the rim, fastening it tight with a nut.

The big problem was getting the air in the tire. Every time he pumped it in it would leak out around the rim. So he tied a rope around the circumference of the tire and pulled it taut with a stick in the same manner as applying a tourniquet.

Pressure around the outside of the tire made the inner grippers press out against the rim. When When the air was pumped into the tire, the pressure finally forced the tire tight against the rim.

Ruppert let the tire stand over night. It still had its forty pounds of pressure the next morning. So he repaired his other four 10-year-old tires in the same fashion. They all held the air, too.

Now he has used the tires a fortnight without the slightest difficulty!

"If your tires have holes in them, patch them on the inside with rubber patching, like you would a tube," is his advice to worry-worn motorists. "If the holes are large have them vulcanized."

ACTS TO BREAK BLACK MARKET

CARACAS, Venezuela — (INS) — Determined to break the "black market" in automobile tires, the Price Control board has issued a new list of rules governing their use. The measures are far more stringent than any yet effected in Venezuela.

Within a short time every motorist will have been given a card describing the make, number, and condition of each of his tires, no one being permitted more than five. In addition, service stations and garages throughout the country will be required to inspect tire registration cards every time fuel or repairs are needed.

BUY BONDS WITH CASH

BRISTOL, Me. — (U.P.) — High school seniors here collected $400 for a graduating class trip to New York, but unanimously voted to cancel the sightseeing tour and invest the money in defense bonds as a class gift.

FARM RATIONS GROUP NAMED

Cass, Franklin Township Men To Serve With Taylor on Equipment Committee.

A Richland county committee to ration farm equipment was completed today with the appointment of two farmers from the northern half of the county to serve with Guy L. Taylor, county AAA chairman.

Appointed to the posts by the county agricultural war board were R. R. Howard, Cass township, and C. N. Kuhn, Franklin township. Alternates are S. H. Cashman, Plymouth township, and J. B. Wolf, Mifflin township. Taylor automatically was made a committee member by virtue of his post as AAA chairman.

Rationing of all new farm machinery under a plan similiar to that used for allocating tires and new automobiles will start immediately, County Agent George B. Ganyard said. He is a member of the county war board.

Farmers desiring to purchase new equipment will be required to file their applications with the rationing committee which will have headquarters in the AAA office on North Diamond street.

Used farm machinery and small pieces of equipment such as hoes, rakes, forks, shovels, and hand-operated and one-horse drawn apparatus will not be rationed.

Before he obtains permission to buy new machinery, the farmer must show that his present equipment is inadequate and cannot be repaired, that his production will be reduced by failure to get new machinery, and that he is unable to rent it. He must agree to permit the use of his machinery for custom work in his community after his own work is done.

BILLS SENT OUT

Water, Sewage Statements Go To West Side Residents.

City water and sewage bills totalling $57,100 were mailed to Mansfield consumers residing west of Main street yesterday for payment by Oct. 15.

The October collection will be approximately $1,000 lower than it was in April, Fred A. Lingafelter, secretary of city water, sewage and garbage said, and it will be $2,200 less than it was one year ago.

The drop is attributed by Lingafelter to families doubling up since the draft and war work have taken a good many persons out of the city. "Persons are also inclined to be more saving of the water at a time like this," said Lingafelter.

Water collections for the six months will amount to $42 300 and sewage collections to $14,800 Consumers paying after the deadline, Oct 15, will lose their 10 per cent discount.

Gets Letter From Marine Prisoner Of Japs In China

CLEVELAND—(INS)—A worried mother today cherished a letter written by her son, Sergeant Michael Schick of the United States Marine corps, who in a letter from Japanese prison camp in central China writes that he is well and plays baseball "when it doesn't rain."

Believed to be the first letter received in Cleveland from a prisoner of Japan, it tells how Schick and his fellow prisoners are building a baseball field and recreation ground.

"We do a little work each day," the letter said "It rains quite often here and we have not been able to play baseball for over a week now. I am looking forward to the time when we can return home and live a normal life again."

Captured in Shanghai the day after the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor Schick has not seen his mother Mrs Malvina Schick, since he re-enlisted in the marines in 1937

CHAPTER IX

"I hadn't thought of that." Truly, she had not. "I suppose he wants to stay at his job as long as he can."

"If they'd take me, I'd enlist today. I haven't anybody to send or anybody to lose, but I'd like to get in with both feet to stamp out the scourge. I felt the same the last time when I did have someone to send and someone to lose. It makes me glad that I'm not young. It always reminds me that I am not young.

"It's a pity it will be dark when we get there. You won't be able to see the orchard or the creek until tomorrow. Don't expect too much. It isn't grand. The house is so old it is put together with wooden pegs. I think the antiques will charm your New England heart and I'll murder anyone who says they are not authentic. I went into barns and attics and stables up and down the Atlantic coast to get them. What's more, you can sit on them . . . It won't be long now. I'll tell you about my neighbors."

Presently Paula turned the car into a long lane at the end of which was a small, white house enclosed by a picket fence. It was not quite dark, so Temple could see as the car came closer that the fence also enclosed an old-fashioned well over which had been built a white shingled canopy. Huge old trees stood like loving sentinels. There was still enough light for her to see that the stream in the rear of the house was glazed with ice There was neither sound nor movement . . . An instant later she saw smoke coming from the chimney and scattered by the wind.

"It's lovely, Paula. At every season it's different and at every season it's lovely. But it isn't—it isn't like you."

Paula glanced at her quickly. "Oh, yes, it is. It's very much like me . . . I'll blow the horn and Herman, Mamie's husband, will come out for our bags."

Stepping inside the house was like stepping back a century. And Temple, who, next to truth, loved beauty and especially the beauty of old, mellow things, stood still, hating to spoil the picture by intrusion though she ached to warm her cold hands by the fire burning high and bright in the old brick fireplace. The walls of the room were pine-panelled; the rugs had been hooped by patient hands that loved color. The chairs and tables were graceful representatives of a by-gone era.

Paula took Temple through the house to Paula's bedroom on the first floor, quaint, shining clean and colorful with chintz, then to the small dining-room complete with old mahogany pieces scarred by generations of children, but still polished and beautiful; and to the two small bedrooms upstairs. In one there was a canopied bed.

"Your room," Paula said.

Temple compared this with the blond modern furniture and the startling modern pictures in Paula's Washington suite.

They had tea before the fire. The old china tea service had been brought in by Mamie, a large woman in a housedress and a long cotton apron.

Paula chuckled. "So now you know why I ask few people here. Oh, they'd love it. So quaint, don't you know. Too utterly dear. Wherever did you find such a perfectly charming place, darling? . . . and so on. They'd think it was a hobby. It isn't. It's a home. I bought it from a family whose forbears put the first plow in the ground way back in seventeen something. The present generation was broke. But the family burying ground is in the back field. I keep the graves clear of weeds and put flowers on them occasionally. In a way they've become my family too, since I haven't any other I care about."

"I'd like Jud to see it."

Paula laughed. "When you can't enjoy something without wanting a man to share your joy, it's bad, darling. I'm afraid."

"I'm not afraid."

"No one ever is at your age. You don't even close your eyes and jump. You jump with them wide open."

"I wonder that you didn't marry again, Paula."

Paula jerked her head up quickly. Her eyes were bright and amused. "How do you know I've been married at all? . . . Bless you! I have been more times than I care to remember. Why should I get married again—that is, if anybody would want to marry me? You don't have to think how you look when you get up in the morning, darling. I do. I never let anyone see me until I put on my eyebrows and mouth. And a man suitable in age for me? I couldn't stand him. Bald head and indigestion. No, thank you.

"I don't want to marry for money because I saw to it the last time that I had plenty of that. I don't want to marry for companionship because the most delightful of companions ceases to be a companion when you marry.

She shook her head slowly. Her face was pale and sharp and drawn in the shadows, but there was great vitality in it.

"You wonder," Temple thought, "on what her vitality nourished."

"You can never go back, Temple. Never. Women are always kidding themselves that they can."

Temple smiled. "How do you know you're in love, Paula?"

"Good Lord, how do I know? I've made more mistakes than any woman on earth. Some women know they're in love when a man bangs them on the head and they still care. There, I'm stopped. I could go on all night. Once I stayed in love two years with a man who went away. When he came back, I loathed the sight of it. He told bad jokes and sat in a chair as if he'd been thrown in it. I suppose he'd always been that way. I'll bet Mamie is listening. I'd like to hear her report my conversation to her friends. I know she thinks I'm nuts. But she had something you and I haven't, darling. She has a husband who adores her and six kids to whom she is indispensable What is more, she has a fixed place in her community. She's Mrs. America, and don't feel sorry for her."

That night Temple lay in the canopied bed under the eaves of the old house and listened to the wind. Sleep was distant; she thought of Jud and Paula and Ron, misfits three. Would Ron continue to submit to the demands of Fran and her family? At least there was a spark in him and perhaps that spark flamed when he thought that once he had wanted to stand, hard and lean, outdoors and see a bridge span the water. If Paula loved country life, why didn't she live here the year around? And Jud, who was meant to be the boss' son and who was instead a number to be called, only a number . . .

She had read and listened more intensely than most girls her age and she knew now that the war abroad was touching her and millions of girls like her. But seeing Jud go would be like dreading an operation, but knowing that you could not be well again until that operation had been successfully performed. No resentment would she feel, but s——ss and pride. It was as difficult for the young to speak of their patriotism as of their religion. Both were too personal and deep-rooted for casual conversation.

And Harry . . . where was he? The thought of him seemed to explode in her mind. She had all but forgotten Harry. But remembering him she saw him as a person more articulate than she who had been able to put her own beliefs into words. The light of learning and the lights in American homes . . . To preserve them he, who had his learning but no real home, had gone to fight—if necessary.

She was ashamed because only a few weeks ago the whole force of her life had centered upon her failure to finish college. And now for the first time in her life she saw herself not as the most important person in the world, standing alone and facing her own petty problems alone, but a person like her mother, willing to give more than she received.

With amazement at these strange new thoughts that came because she could not sleep she saw herself also both as a citizen with responsibilities and a woman who had hurt to bear and tolerance yet to learn. She was not merely one, but one of many and it would require all the combined voices and all the combined strength before she would have the right to function as an individual again. So much was written about sacrifice. "But sacrifice," she thought, "isn't a passive word. Will we learn all together that it isn't a passive word? Harry didn't talk about the things most of us don't understand, things like politics and trade routes and economics. He talked about learning and American homes . . ."

The next day she walked over the farm with Paula and Herman and listened to Herman's gutteral suggestions concerning the crops. He was a huge, unkempy man in overalls, with a mischievous glint in his small eyes. He glanced furtively at Paula's brown slacks when he thought she was not looking and grunted his acquiescence at her orders. He treated Temple, now windblown, her shoes muddy, as though she were not there.

As Paula and Temple were driving back to Washington late that afternoon, Temple asked, "If you like it so much in the country, why don't you live there all the time?"

Paula did not give her usual quick response. After a while she said with a chuckle, "Because they won't accept me. To them I'm a freak, a middle-aged woman with red hair who smokes and wears slacks and shorts and grows only things that go well with her house. I'd be an outcast in that kind of respectability."

"I hadn't thought of that. But I've enjoyed every minute of the week-end with you."

Paula laughed. "I'm the one to be flattered, darling. Don't you know that? You have no idea how flattered older people are when young people will do things with them. Unfortunately different generations never get together. You, for instance, will tell me things you won't tell your mother."

The road to Washington was lighted by winter moonlight.

To Paula, Temple thought, it meant modern rooms and an odd assortment of people coming and going. To her, Temple, it meant Jud.

At the door of the boarding house they parted quickly. For a minute Temple stood and watched Paula's sleek car move down the street. Suddenly she was moved by an incredible pity as the thought came that nothing thrilling would ever happen to Paula again; all the climaxes were in the past.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The Kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

LATIN AMERICA CHANGES HEADS IN 4 COUNTRIES

New Leaders Favor Allies or Try To Maintain Neutrality.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—The inauguration of Dr. Alfonso Lopez as president of Colombia marked the fourth change in the presidencies of Latin American republics during the past 10 months.

Lopez, a Liberal both as to party membership and doctrine, served as president for the 1934-38 term, and he campaigned this year on a pro-democratic platform. In his speeches he expressed full support for continental unity and defense co-operation, and he made a lengthy pre-inaugural visit to the United States where he viewed, at first hand, the growing industrial and military war program.

Colombia is of vast importance in the Western Hemisphere defensive system. It lies closer to the Panama Canal than any South American country; it has long coastlines on both the Pacific and Caribbean; it is one of the world's great oil and coffee producing countries, and is a potential source of such vital raw materials as rubber.

Castillo Continues Neutral.

Colombia severed relations with the Axis powers shortly after Dec. 7, 1941, and at the Rio de Janeiro conference last January gave strong support to the move for a full continental break with Germany, Italy and Japan. The election and inauguration of a new head of state of definite pro-democratic sympathies provides added support for the United Nations.

The change in presidents in Argentina last June, brought about by the resignation of Dr. Roberto M. Oritz shortly before his death, occasioned no alteration in the government policies of the River Plate republic.

Vice-President Ramon S. Castillo, who had been Acting President with full executive powers for two years, assumed the presidency in his own right, and continued the government's policy of "prudent neutrality." There has been no sign that the administration contemplates a departure from its policy of maintenance of diplomatic relations with the Axis, despite the Rio de Janeiro resolution recommending a rupture with the Axis nations.

Chile May Veer to Allies.

The Castillo administration has continued the nation-wide state of siege, enacted by executive order late last year, and apparently is in firm control of the potential situation. Castillo, under provisions of the constitution, will serve the unexpired portion of the Oritz term, due to end Feb. 20, 1944.

Juan Antonio Rios was inaugurated president of Chile last April for a six-year term. The right-wing leader of the Radical (actually liberal) party was chosen at a special election called following the death of President Pedro Aguirre Cerda in November of last year.

A brief provisional regime, under the presidency of Jeronimo Mendez, was in office during the Rio de Janeiro conference, where the Chilean delegation supported Argentina in the question of a rupture with the Axis. Chile, thus far, has not severed relations with the countries warring against the United Nations, but there have been occasional indications from United Nations' sources recently, leading to the belief that sentiment in favor of such a break may be crystallizing in official Chilean quarters.

Panama Supports U. S.

The Republic of Panama had a change of presidents last October, when a bloodless coup ousted the allegedly pro-Nazi President Arnulfo Arias and seated Ricardo Adolfo de la Guardia in his place. De la Guardia's government demonstrated its pro-democratic sympathies from the start, and declared war on the Axis.

At a recent election in the Dominican Republic, Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo was chosen chief executive for a six-year term and he was inaugurated last month. Trujillo, who had served two previous terms as president, long has been the directing force in Dominican affairs. His country also is at war with the Axis, and it has given complete and unstinted co-operation to the United Nations' cause.

General elections were to have been held in Uruguay last March but they were postponed following a coup during which President Alfredo Baldomir dissolved congress and seized full governmental powers. At that time and subsequently, Baldomir made it known that elections are tentatively planned for some time late this year.

6-Year-Old Boy Refugee Conducts Own Scrap Drive

CHICAGO—(INS)—There's a six-year-old boy refugee in Chicago who is waging a single-handed salvage drive with eminent success.

Peter Klein is the ingenious youngster, son of Austrian parents who brought him to America three years ago after the purge of their country.

Young Klein goes into alleys, back yards and along streets, "just yells 'any old scrap, tin cans or any old thing' and the ladies that have something have to call back." He doesn't ring doorbells, he averred disdainfully—"what's the use of wearing myself out?"

A few days ago this 48-pound boy chided his "grandma" because she protested with children who were making noise near their home. "You can't do that here, Grandma," he expostulated, "this is a free country."

One day lately this lad collected scrap twice the amount of his own weight.

Why does he do it? "Because it means I want to be a good American."

That is Peter's credo.

CANDIDATES TO TALK MONDAY AT OPEN MEETING

League of Women Voters To Sponsor Discussions By Election Nominees.

Richland County League of Women Voters will introduce city, county, senatorial and congressional candidates at an open meeting to be held by the League in connection with its regular October session Monday at 7 30 p. m., in the Chamber of Commerce assembly rooms.

Arrangements for the session come under the jurisdiction of Mrs. A. M. Colby, chairman of government and its operations, and it is likely that certain subjects will be assigned to several of the candidates for discussion, Mrs. D. O. Meese, county president, said today.

The subjects will be determined after Mrs. Meese confers with members of the Ohio League of Women Voters when she attends a luncheon meeting in Columbus today held by the League in connection with its annual program conference at the Deshler-Wallick hotel. Mrs. I. W. Bassinger also attended the luncheon.

All candidates, with the exception of Congressman J Harry McGregor who is in Washington, D. C., have accepted the League's invitation to appear at the meeting, Mrs. Meese said.

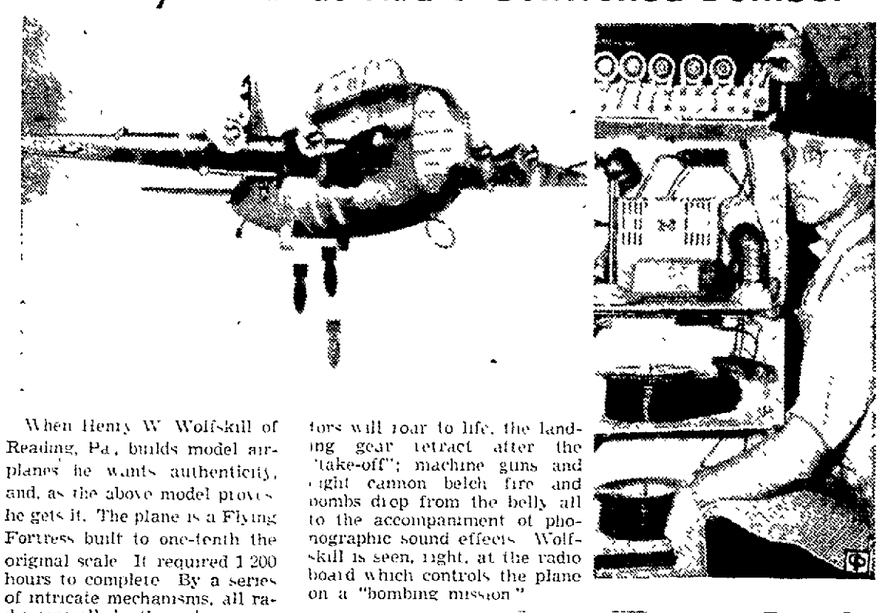
Mrs. Russell E. Moore of the county Republican Women's organization and Mrs Clark Brook, representing the Democratic women, will introduce the candidates.

In Columbus today the local representatives hear John N. Hart, chief of the research division of the state department of taxation, speak on the financing of state and local government in Ohio.

HE WANTS HELP

SMITHFIELD, N. C.—(UP)—R A. McLamb, paroled after serving part of an 18-month sentence for bootlegging, asked the editor of his local paper to help him stay straight: "Please tell all my old customers in your paper nor to tempt me anymore. I'm through with my former trade."

Hobbyist Builds Radio-Controlled Bomber



When Henry W Wolfskill of Reading, Pa., builds model airplanes he wants authenticity, and, as the above model proves he gets it. The plane is a Flying Fortress built to one-tenth the original scale It required 1 200 hours to complete By a series of intricate mechanisms, all radio-controlled, the plane can make a simulated flight. In steady progression the four motors will roar to life, the landing gear retract after the "take-off"; machine guns and light cannon belch fire and bombs drop from the belly all to the accompaniment of phonographic sound effects Wolfskill is seen, right, at the radio board which controls the plane on a "bombing mission."

COOK DOES IT

OAKLAND, Cal.—(UP)— Lincoln Ormsby Dale, veteran school teacher, 82 years of age, says that during his long life he has developed a philosophy of how to live long and happily.

That, he says, is to have always a good cook. That is one of the reasons he gave for his marriage to Mrs. Rosanna Barrier, 75. The marriage was the second for each.

Calls for Tax Bill Before Elections

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Broadway Bulletin Board.

Friends are trying to mend the break between Charles Laughton and Elsa Lanchester. There's "nobody else" involved in their differences . . . Benny Goodman isn't army-bound, as reported.

Kilgallen

Her set thinks Gloria Baker Topping will try again with Jack Sterling, former Gotham glamor boy now a corporal with an anti-tank division.

Betty Allen, once Ethel Merman's understudy, has left her wealthy Chicago groom and is back in N. Y. with her mama . . . Mary Pickford's visit to John Hopkins is just for a physical checkup.

Lieut. John Swope spent his last leave in Hollywood trying to get Kay Aldridge to set the date for an I Do-et . . . Lois De Fee's attempted elopement—with a Peruvian officer—was thwarted by the new Elkton marriage laws.

Betty Davis is planning to return to the stage in Robinson Jeffers' play, "The Tower Beyond Tragedy." . . . Tentative—and very quiet—plans would have Monte Woolley directing, and the Shuberts producing.

Margot Stevenson, the actress, is wearing an engagement sparkler from Robert Russell, who authored the OWI's propaganda film, "Ring of Steel" . . . Lady Dawnss Castlerosse left for England over the week-end—by plane.

Ann Rutherford is ailing. Severe cold, and bond-selling fatigue . . . New York City is due for its first lady letter-carriers within three months.

Georgie Hale and Adele Jurgens are heart-toddying again, but quietly. . . . The experts are betting on George Sanders to win his battle with 20th Century-Fox, because of the shortage of Hollywood males.

* * *

Lois Andrew's father is now a sergeant with a U. S commando outfit overseas . . . Gower and Jeanne, the youthful dancers, were the hit of "Count Me In" at the Boston opening. They read the critics' raves along with another interesting piece of literature—Gower's army induction notice.

Butch Bigbee of "Star and Garter" was birthday-gifted with a diamond garter by her beau, a psychiatrist . . . The Carol Gordon-Gene Krupa romance has hit its last high note.

Are Electra Waggoner Bowman and Lt. Jimmy Stewart (of society, not the films) secretly Mr. and Mrs.- . . . Zorina and Balanchine have put the divorce notions in mothballs. He'll be in uniform before very long, anyway.

* * *

Jacques Frey, the piano tickler, will waltz down the aisle with Barbara Topping . . . Clark Gable has shed too many pounds via his rigorous army training. He'll have to diet to get some of it back . . . Post-deb Helen Stedman's betrothal to Lt. John Alden Briggs is being announced today.

Alexis Thompson has a new crush. Betty Stewart, the pretty divorcee . . . Intimates say Adrienne Ames and Illustrator Jaro Fabry are headed for an October altar-trek.

Larry French, the Dodgers' southpaw, may receive a commission in the Navy . . . Will Rogers' daughter Mary is working as a riveter in a California defense plant.

Sailing Baruch, Jr., is sporting a jeweled money clip from a lovely brunet . . . Richard Arlen's 21-year-old daughter had her honeymoon interrupted by an emergency appendix operation.

Arlene Whelan and her husband, Alex D'Arcy have definitely split, after a series of reconciliations . . . Danny Healy is up and around again.

Movie Mogul Joe Schenck's newest interest is Edna Johnson, ex-wife of Paulette Goddard's ex-husband, Edgar James . . . Lucien Brown, the engineer who was a Baruch aide during World War 1, has been summoned to a dollar-a-year job in Washington.

The backstage thieves cleaned up at "Priorities" last week, with the 3 Radio Aces and Dorothy Partington the losers. Clifford Fischer reimbursed the victims.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—This is the tale of the Happy Herpetologist who became by accident a movie star — and remained, first and foremost, a Happy Herpetologist.

Coons

Mr. James Dannaldson, 27, a big strapping fellow with a grin on his lips and a gleam in his eye, is like no movie actor I've ever met. That's why I like to think of him as the Happy Herpetologist, though strictly speaking the gleam in his eye is for all forms of animal life and shines just as brightly over a beetle as for a snake.

* * *

IT IS a strictly scientific gleam, and has been there for years. Mr. Dannaldson, Omaha - born, came to Los Angeles when he was seven, later attended University of Southern California where his 194 pounds were lent to track and field sports but his mind to science. He wound up as curator of the snake museum.

When he read in the paper that Clyde Elliott, the film-explorer, was taking a crew to the Amazon jungles, young James (visions of dancing beetles and giant crocodiles no doubt making him dizzy with delight) applied for a job.

"I had hoped to go in some technical capacity," says the academic James, 'but they gave me a screen test which turned out not so badly as I feared it would. They made me an actor."

This, of course, is scientific modesty. James Dannaldson is the star of "Killers of the Amazon." He plays the American hunter who trails the black caiman (crocodile), the anaconda, the giant ant-eater, the jaguar, and other quaint and lovable critters of the Amazonian wilds. The animals, of course, are the real stars. Young James, recognized the fact, allows that movie-acting is not so bad "as long as there are animals to cover you up."

The troupe settled on Marajo island, in the mouth of the Amazon, an equatorial spot, for its dallyings with the caiman. This, the Happy Herpetologist relates, is the most treacherous and dangerous of crocodiles from 8 to 17 feet long, with 5-inch teeth and meanly playful habits.

* * *

THE troupe ran out of supplies on Marajo, and Charlie Ford, the producer, went to the rescue. Ford had quite an epic voyage himself during a tropical storm, but he hadn't a camera along. It was Ford who told me such items as the natives' fondness for boa-constrictors as household guardians against rodents, and of young James' near-finish when an anaconda read the script wrong and nearly choked him to death. Young James got his nose badly slashed when an obstreperous caiman sent a native and the native's bamboo pole flying, and young James — ever the scientist — doctored himself so that he now bears the merest of scars.

360 WORDS IN GOP PLATFORM FOR FALL DRIVE

Party Pledges Full Support of War Effort, Liberal State Administration.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Ohio Republicans headed into their fall election campaign today promising "continued and complete co-operation in the war effort and continuance of liberal and efficient administration of affairs in Ohio."

The party's convention yesterday adopted a 360-word platform—the shortest ever adopted in Ohio—commending Gov. John W. Bricker and his administration for "wholehearted co-operation with the president in the prosecution of the war" and listing as essential to victory:

Unselfish co-operation of every citizen to achieve maximum war production; elimination of waste; curtailment of non-defense spending; appointment of persons to direct the war effort "on the basis of ability rather than politics" and immediate restraints on inflation.

The platform also praised Bricker and Republicans in the general assembly for "reducing the operating cost of state government . . . paying off inherited debts, increasing subsidies to local governments" and establishing a treasury surplus "against shrinking revenues."

Ohio Republicans holding state and national elective offices were endorsed.

Bricker, in his keynote speech, denied charges by the Democratic gubernatorial nominee, former Congressman John McSweeney of Wooster, that his administration had not given full co-operation to the federal government in the war effort.

"Anyone who doubts or denies that Ohio's response has been loyal, patriotic and outstanding is either guilty of ignorance of the facts or prompted by partisan motives," Bricker asserted.

Bricker took exception to Democratic Secretary of State John E. Sweeney's contention that a special session of the legislature was necessary to co-ordinate state and federal laws governing soldier voting.

He asserted that Ohio election statutes provided easy methods for soldier voting and demanded that "the secretary of state see that every soldier boy from Ohio that can be reached be given a chance to vote."

Sweeney ruled arbitrarily this week that the federal war ballot listing only the names of congressional candidates could not be used by Ohio and that men in the armed forces applying for absent voters' forms should be sent the state ballot carrying names of congressional, state and local candidates.

ILL TWO WEEKS

C. H. Heyde, Former College Instructor, Dies.

LOUDONVILLE — Charles F. Heyde, 61, former college instructor and brother-in-law of C. F. Kettering, widely known General Motors company official, died early today at Mansfield General hospital following an illness of two weeks.

A native of Loudonville, he had received an appointment to West Point as a youth but was forced to leave the military academy after two years because of ill health. Later he taught in business colleges at Akron, Carthage, Ill., and Cleveland.

For the past 23 years he had been superintendent of the Methodist Sunday school here. He was a member of the Ashland county selective service board and the Loudonville Rotary club.

Surviving are his widow, Daisy (Kettering) Heyde, one daughter, Mrs. Frances Long, and three grandchildren, all of Loudonville, and a brother, Rev. Amos Heyde, of Logan.

The body is at the Swank funeral home. Rev. R. A. Hall will conduct funeral services at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Methodist church. He will be assisted by Rev. G. H. Volpitto, Presbyterian pastor, and Rev. J. H. Kuhlman, pastor of Zion Lutheran church. Burial will be in Loudonville cemetery.

PLEDGE PLEASES COUNTY'S G. O. P.

Richland Delegation Back From State Parley and Platform Mapping.

Richland county's delegation to the Republican state convention in Columbus yesterday was back home today, pleased with the party's pledge of "loyal opposition" to President Roosevelt and to support the president in "any action necessary to assure a complete and decisive military victory."

John L. Catlett, G. O. P. candidate for re-election to the Ohio general assembly from Richland county, represented the 17th congressional district on the state resolutions committee.

The committee of 22 members drafted the party's platform, believed the shortest ever adopted by the Republicans in Ohio.

The platform stated in part, that "every American must cooperate unselfishly toward achieving maximum war production; that all waste must be eliminated; that non-defense expenditures must be drastically curtailed; that the appointment of persons to direct the war effort must be on the basis of ability rather than politics, and that rigid restraints on inflation must be imposed."

Answering Democratic charges that the state administration has not cooperated fully with the war program, Gov. John W. Bricker in the principal convention address last night outlined the steps that have been taken in the state and added that "anyone who doubts or denies that Ohio's response has been loyal, patriotic, and outstanding is either guilty of ignorance of the facts or prompted by partisan politics."

In the Richland county delegation to the convention were Catlett, Ralph Hardy, county G. O. P. executive chairman; Ralph Carroll, county central committee chairman as delegates. Several other Republicans from the county attended.

CLUB CABINETS TO MAP PLANS

Y.W.C.A. Organizations to Meet At Fernyak Cabinet.

Cabinets of the three Blue Tri and Senior Merrymakers clubs of the Y.W.C.A. will consider what the future holds at a special meeting Saturday afternoon at the C. S. Fernyak cabin, south of Mansfield.

Prior to the discussion groups based on three pertinent questions the 50 girls attending the meeting will hear Mrs. Campbell White speak on "Personal Relationships."

Mrs. Harold Meese will conduct the discussion on "Why Live?" Miss Elizabeth Hainer will lead another on the subject "After High School—What?" while Miss Frances Randall will speak on "When John Comes Marching Home."

Mrs. D. J. Morgan aided the cabinet in arranging the program. Miss Janet Kelly will conduct recreation and a wiener roast will conclude the event.

Committees in charge of the affair are: program, Mary Alice Spring, Marianne Jackson, Marie Mapp; food, Barbara McDowall, Mary Horst, and Mary Kochheiser; setting up, Janice McCartney, Betty Morey and Ruby Dickerson; publicity, Virginia Marion, Edith Hawkins and Frances Gross.

ONE-MAN WAR PLANT RECEIVES PRODUCTION EXCELLENCE FLAG

(By International News Service)

OCEANSIDE, L. I., N. Y.—The maritime commission's "M" pennant for "Excellence in production" was raised today on a flagpole at the home of a 32-year-old Long Island man.

William T. Morris, who operates a "war plant" in the basement of his home, turning out spokes for ships' steering wheels, became the first individual to receive any of the government's awards for production achievement.

The award was presented by Rear Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice-chairman of the maritime commission. Postmaster General Frank Walker also attended the ceremonies held at Morris' home.

Owner and sole employe of Oceanside's one-man "factory," Morris has turned out more than 12,000 spokes for merchant and naval ships in spare moments when he is not driving a U. S. mail truck. His daily average production is 40 spokes.

Morris studied wood-turning at evening courses offered by the WPA in 1934 and gradually equipped his basement workshop with a drill press, band saw, circular saw, jigsaw, lathe, sander and grinder.

Last night he asked F. J. Maier and son, of Amityville, L. I., for a chance to make spokes for steering wheels. He was given a trial and his work was so excellent that he was given a sub-contract.

Morris works at the post office from 8 a. m. until 4:30 p. m.; works on defense contracts from 4:30 p. m. to 6 p. m., and after dinner, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. "Overtime" is put in on Saturday afternoons and Sunday mornings.

Morris also makes handles for bronze steering wheels, flagpoles for small boats and parts of boarding ladders.

DIES AT HOME

W. B. Wolford, 76, Succumbs; Funeral Saturday.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday afternoon for William B. Wolford, 76, on the Olivesburg road in Weller township, who died at his home Wednesday at 4:30 p. m., after a lingering illness.

Rev. Nevin Stover will officiate at services to be held at 1:30 p. m. at the Finefrock Funeral home. Burial will be in Franklin cemetery.

Mr. Wolford was born Dec. 5, 1865, on the farm where he died. He was a member of the Oakland Lutheran church.

His wife, formerly Naomi Hursh Wolford, preceded him in death. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Curtis Pittinger, Mrs. Roger Kerr and Mrs. Earl Garrison, all of Mansfield, and Mrs. Roy Ballinger of Fremont, also one son, Charles Wolford of Mansfield. One brother, Allan Wolford, who lived at the family home, and one sister, Mrs. Sarah Pugh of Mansfield also survive.

FALL KILLS WORKER

WARREN —(U.P.)— Charles S. Van Gorder, died of a fractured skull in a fall from a 12-foot ladder yesterday at the Ideal foundry of the Republic Steel corporation in Newton Falls.

DEATH CLAIMS JACOB MAYER

Long Illness Ends In Death of Wood Street Resident.

Jacob Mayer, 75, died today at his home, 257 Wood street, after a lingering illness.

Born in Hungary, June 5, 1867, Mr. Mayer came to Mansfield 37 years ago.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, John and Carl Mayer, also five grandchildren and one great grandchild all of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Laff-a-Day

Richland county deputy sheriffs ran into a lot of trouble yesterday and today trying to locate 20 persons to tell them they have been drawn for petit jury duty next week. Going to one address that was turned over to them as drawn from the jury wheel, the officers found the house had been torn down several months ago and the former occupant had moved to another part of the city. In another case, the man they were supposed to find in Bellville had moved to Shelby. Many of the names drawn from the jury wheel were put there a long time ago and never changed, it was pointed out. Changing house numbers in Mansfield and the population shift as a result of the war further complicated the officers' task.

The half-dozen women members of the Visiting Nurses' board are arranging their schedule to include a new and important activity. Beginning Thursday the women will take turns serving as office secretary at the Visiting Nurses' headquarters in the municipal building. Action to serve in this manner was taken by the board in order to curtail operating expenses after the departure of Miss Mary Hughes, office secretary the past four years. Miss Hughes has resigned her position to accept a new bookkeeping post.

Supt. D. D. Rummel of Bellville schools has developed a plan that has already put his schools off to a head start in the scrap campaign. When the football season opened Rummel set a season ticket price of 55 cents each for grade pupils and then told them that they could earn a ticket by bringing in a "reasonable amount" of scrap metal or rubber. Already dozens of boys and girls have earned their tickets, some of them receiving two or three, and a big tool shed at the schools has been filled to overflowing with scrap. Now the superintendent is offering free chapel program tickets for the grade or room that turns in the largest amount of scrap.

SOLDIER SLAIN

American in Ireland Dies In Clash With MP's.

BELFAST — (INS) — One American soldier died from knife wounds and another was seriously hurt during a disturbance on the streets of Antrim, a communique issued today by United States army headquarters in northern Ireland disclosed.

"There was a disturbance in the streets of Antrim last night involving United States military police and soldiers," the communique said.

"Several shots were fired before the disorder ended.

"One soldier was killed by knife wounds and another soldier was seriously wounded. No civilians were involved."

MOORE RITES TO BE FRIDAY

Former Mansfielder to Be Buried at Memorial Park.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Friday for Frank L. Moore, 69, who died Monday at Royal Oak, Mich.

The body arrived in Mansfield last night and was removed to the Jones Memorial where services will be conducted by Rev. Walter Kalvesmoki, a close friend of the Moore family. Burial will be in Mansfield Memorial park.

Mr. Moore was a former resident of Mansfield and was an employe of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company for a number of years.

SENATOR SEES INFLATION AS MAJOR PERIL

Committee to Get Final Look at Revised Bill Friday; Short Debate Seen.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Calling for speed and more speed in the race against inflation, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee today urged final passage of the new tax bill before the November elections.

The revised text, now in the hands of printers, will receive a final inspection by the committee tomorrow. George said it would be called upon for action Monday, or Tuesday at the latest.

He foresaw only two or three days of debate, and said he hoped to have it in the hands of a joint senate-house conference committee the week of Oct. 12.

The tax bill is the second volley of a three barrel broadside against the menace of what President Roosevelt has termed a "vicious spiral of inflation." The first was fired yesterday, when the senate passed the administration's bill aimed at stabilizing wages and prices.

George warned that congress and the country must prepare for yet another anti-inflationary move—compulsory savings at the rate of about $1,000,000,000 a month.

The finance chairman estimated roundly that the new tax bill would bring in an additional $8,000,000,000 over a full year's operation, raising the total of federal revenue to some $25,000,000,000.

He foresaw a certain amount of inflation as inevitable, even though compulsory savings are coupled with the heaviest tax load in the nation's history.

This he said was likely because of the phenomenal rise in purchasing power occasioned by the wartime industrial spurt, and because of rapidly dwindling stocks of consumer goods.

Those and other factors make it difficult to estimate the exact yield of the new taxes, George said.

Demands End of Jealousy, Feuds Between Services

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Congressional leaders today demanded an immediate end of all semblance of jealousy or feuds between the army and navy.

They expressed amazement at a navy sponsored press conference this week at which a naval flier, a hero in several Pacific engagements, compared the performance of the army and navy air arms.

House Democratic Leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts said he "read with astonishment" the statement of Lieut. Comdr. John Smith Thach that carrier-based planes had won every major victory in the Pacific and that horizontal bombing was of little use against warships.

(Army Flying Fortresses have been credited by the war department with major successes in high level bombing against Japanese forces in the Pacific.)

"Assuming that everything the navy flier said is true," McCormack said, "the question that comes to my mind is what purpose the navy intended to serve in the interview."

Ninth Inning Rally Falls Short for Battling Cardinals

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

If I have been asked once I have been asked a dozen times these last two days:

"Why are you not at the world series?" or "Why are you not in St. Louis?" Some people are original and vary the question, you see.

Now I am not so slow on the uptake that I do not realize right off the bat, or eventually anyhow, that these people are handing me the rib. Or to put it in plain English, they are gibing me. No kiddin'.

* * *

But I can go along with a gag, as the guy says, and being ever one to handy a joke about I tell them in all seriousness:

"I am waiting for Cleveland to win the pennant."

In fact I have been waiting quite a few years now for Cleveland to win the pennant, because I have had an ambition to be able to tell my grandchildren, some day, about how I went to see the World Series in Cleveland.

* * *

But it is beginning to look now like I will be taking my grandchildren with me on that occasion. No, I haven't any grandchildren—yet.

* * *

And so from the ridiculous to the serious, and let me call your attention to the Tag day which the Mansfield high school band will put on Saturday in the business section of the city.

Support of the Tag day this fall advances from the usual heading of community spirit to something akin to patriotic duty, with a little of both mixed in.

The band is asking the citizens of Mansfield to help "Keep 'em Shining," for their participation in patriotic events.

As I understand it, the band isn't asking for money for new uniforms or instruments this year. But it does need money for maintenance, and a large part of the maintenance is taken up by dry cleaning bill.

Throughout the past summer the band has been just about the busiest musical organization in these parts, appearing at nearly all the "going away" ceremonies for Mansfield soldiers, marching in every parade, and appearing at other patriotic gatherings.

And right now it is scheduled for nearly every week remaining this year.

And what with marching in the rain at nearly every football game, those uniforms are apt to get kinda dirty. So, come on, boys "KEEP IT CLEAN."

Golf Tournament Entry List Grows

The wartime third annual Richland county golf tournament, postponed last Sunday because of weather, may break last year's record entry list of 45 starters by the time the boys tee off at Westbrook Country club Sunday morning.

* * *

Original entry list of 12 golfers already has been swelled to 45 since the postponement, and prospects now are that over 50 niblick wielders will be entered by Sunday.

* * *

Most of the golfers realize may be their last tournament chance until after the war.

Ruffing Blows Up But Yankees' Lead Holds

Red Hurls Hitless Ball For Seven And Two-Thirds Innings In Opener

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—The picture of lion-hearted Red Ruffing, on the brink of world series immortality, suddenly going to pieces under a four-run assault by the ever-fighting Cardinals still was fresh in the minds of everyone who watched yesterday's thriller as the Yankees and the Cards tangled in the second game at Sportsman's park today.

It was a game, that first one, that will be remembered a long time. Those who saw it probably will forget the final score in time—7-4 for the Yankees—but they will remember how the 38-year-old Ruffing, within one hit of a two-hit world series shutout had his dream shattered like a thunderclap from the blue.

Some thought the ninth inning deserved to rank in dramatic quality with the storied seventh frame of the final series game in 1926, when old Pete Alexander struck out Tony Lazzeri, and with another wild inning in the '29 classic, when the Athletics scored 10 runs to overcome an eight-run Chicago Cubs' lead.

An important difference was, of course, that the rally failed to win yesterday's game for the Cards. Ruffing, too, received credit for his seventh world series victory, a record unmatched by any pitcher. But that blazing rally of the Red Birds might have an important bearing on the remainder of the series.

As the Cards went out behind their great youngster, Johnny Beazley, to try to trim the Yanks today and carry the series all-square into New York, they at least knew that Yankee pitching could be hit. Having blasted Ruffing, they probably stood in much less awe of Ernie Bonham, the Yankees' big forkballer.

The youngsters really looked painfully weak while Ruffing mowed them down for the first seven and two-thirds innings. They were over-anxious and obviously nervous, a perfect set-up for crafty Rufus the Red.

Up to the ninth inning, Captain Terry Moore was the only Cardinal who even looked like he might get a safety off the former coal miner. Twice he had sent Yankee outfielders chasing far back to pull down his drives before he came up with two down in the eighth inning and pumped a clean single into right field, the first hit off Red.

In pitching seven and two-thirds innings of hitless ball, Ruffing, at least smashed the previous world series record of seven and one-third frames, held jointly by Herb Pennock and Monte Pearson, who were, of course, pitching for the Yankees when they did it.

St. Louis players and fans were surprisingly light-hearted about losing the opener. The town has a lot of solid confidence in the scrapping club that overhauled Brooklyn and won the National league flag in a rousing finish. Roy Stockton of the Post-Dispatch said last night: "They won't feel natural until they've lost the first two games."

The fans thought Beazley, the youngster who won 21 games in this, his first year in the big time, had a good chance of hand-cuffing the Yankee batters today. They sneered at the suggestion that Johnny might be overcome by the occasion and issue a flock of passes, a fatal thing to do against the Yankees.

Wildness, coupled with some jittery support, was what proved the undoing of Mort Cooper, the Cards' ace pitcher, yesterday. He had a world of stuff, but walks kept him in almost constant hot water up to the time he was removed in favor of Harry Gumbert with two out and five runs across in the eighth inning.

In the last 13 innings he pitched in the National league race, Cooper issued just three walks. He granted the Yankees the same number in the first four innings. As a result, they had men on base in every inning except the seventh.

The first two Yankee runs in the fourth and fifth innings were well earned. Buddy Hassett doubled Joe DiMaggio home with the first one and Roy Cullenbine's two-bagger scored Red Rolfe with the second. A third also was honestly come-by in the eighth on solid knocks by DiMaggio, Bill Dickey and Hassett, but the last four—the winners, as it turned out—were tainted.

Country Slaughter, Card right-fielder, let a couple across in the eighth when he dropped a smash into right-center by Ruffing. It was an extremely hard chance, incidentally, and might have been ruled a hit by a more lenient scorer. Lefty Max Lanier, who hurled the last inning for the Cards, let in the final two Yankee scores that were real beauties.

Many of the nearly 35,000 spectators had left the park when the Cards staged their amazing outburst in the ninth. They missed something that would have renewed their faith in their team. Starting with Walker Cooper's single that Red Rolfe fagged at third base but couldn't handle cleanly, the Red Birds slugged six hits, including a triple into the right-field corner by Shortstop "Slats" Marion.

* * *

The bases still were loaded, the tying run on first, when Musial bounced to Hassett at first for the out that ended the game. Spud Chandler, figured as the probable Yankee starting pitcher in the third game at Yankee stadium Saturday, finally had retired the side.

Ruffing Breaks Series Pitching Record

Red Ruffing of the Yanks sets a new pitching record as he takes his seventh world series win by defeating the Cards in the opener at St. Louis, 7-4. He is seen in action during the third inning, being picked off second by a throw from Catcher Walker Cooper to Marty Marion after he had singled and gone to second on Rizzuto's walk. Rams Warned To Watch Joe Orrville's Yonto Does Everything on Ball Field.

"Look out for Joe."

That'll be the defensive battle cry of the Madison high school Rams tomorrow night when they tangle with Orrville's Red Riders at Madison field.

And it won't be just another guy named Joe." It'll be Joe Yonto they're yelling about. According to Madison Coach Al Fendrick, Joe Yonto is just about the whole Orrville team, although he's listed in the line-up only at fullback.

He runs, he kicks, he passes, he bucks the line, and he calls the signals on both offense and defense. And he's the captain. In fact he does everything but coach the team, and his brother Tony helps to do that.

Joe was the whole show against Rittman last week as Orrville won 14-12 after trailing 0-12 at the half. In the third quarter with the ball on the Rittman four line, he faked a plunge on fourth down, leaped in the air, and heaved a left-handed pass to end Norman, lying on the ground over the goal line for a touchdown. And Joe plunged for the point.

And with only a minute and 45 seconds remaining in the ball game, Yonto plunged from the four yard line for the winning touchdown and then passed to Norman for the extra point. And once on fourth down in midfield and seven to go, Yonto plunged for the distance, rather than give up the ball.

When the Rams aren't watching Yonto, they might do well to watch Jacobs, left halfback, Fendrick warns. Jacobs is a high stepping runner who cuts back neatly down the middle on smashes off tackle, and he will bear a bit of watching.

The game tomorrow night starts at 8:15.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—On the way out to St. Louis some of the boys were discussing the Cardinals' speed and Joe McCarthy asked: What are they, a bunch of Ty Cobbs on motorcycles" . . . After the ninth inning yesterday, he probably figured the answer was "Yes." . . . At that, we can't think of a much easier job than trying to second-guess Joe on the world series . . . He doesn't leave anything for you to do . . . He picked Rufus the Red Ruffing to start yesterday instead of Bonham or some other young pitcher with a good record and for eight innings nobody could have done better . . . If it hadn't been for the ninth, old Rufus might done better than Herb Pennock and Waite Hoyt in the 1926 and 1928 world series against the Cards. They both tossed three-hitters.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Washington fans are boosting Joe Judge for the job of managing the Senators, but how about Lefty Gomez? . . . At least, he can speak Spanish . . . Mickey McConnell, who helps run the Dodgers' farms, is one up on his boss, Larry MacPhail . . . While Larry was talking about his army commission, Mickey enlisted and already is in uniform . . . appropriately, he was assigned to the armored forces at Fort Knox, Ky.

Massillon Tickets Released

Snyder Changes Lineup For Sandusky Game.

WHILE Mansfield high school's football Tygers tapered off today in their preparations for the game at Sandusky tomorrow night, George Sherman, chairman of ticket sales at the high school, looked ahead three weeks and began preparing for the Massillon game.

"I didn't intend to open up Massillon ticket sales until after the Niles game," Sherman said, "but the fans have forced me to release the Massillon tickets now, so many of them have been in demanding the right to purchase tickets for the big game."

Massillon game tickets go on sale tonight at 7 o'clock at Tawse's Pharmacy, Brown's drug store, and Mayer's drug store, and at room 107 at the high school, and will be available tomorrow at Mansfield Athletic Supply and Yuncker Brothers.

* * *

In spite of the fact that Mansfield appears sadly outclassed by Massillon this year, present demand indicates a complete sell-out for the big game Oct. 23.

Massillon hasn't stopped traveling to support its state-champion Tigers. They asked for 2,000 tickets for the Mansfield game, but thus far Sherman has sent them only 1,000.

Sandusky sent only 500 student tickets and 100 adult tickets here for tomorrow night's game. They may be obtained at 7 o'clock tonight at room 107 at the high school building.

Coach Paul Snyder has been drilling his Tygers all week on pass defense, attempting to correct a weakness that resulted in two Elyria touchdowns last week.

In order to speed up work of the forward wall, he has been using big Jack Guy, sophomore, at the tackle post held until now by "Tiny" Metcalf.

There was still some question today whether Bill Lewis, veteran end who played last week in spite of an injured side, would be able to see action in the Sandusky game. Snyder said that in event Lewis is unable to play, Gene Hetler will be moved to his end, and Joe Parry will take over Hetler's guard position.

"These changes in the line would give Sandusky a weight advantage of 18 pounds per man in the forward wall," Snyder said today, "but it still seems best to sacrifice a little weight for a little speed."

Backfield Coach Vern Hoffman, who scouted the Sandusky-Lorain game last week, reports Sandusky has an unusually strong line, and that Lorain was unable to gain through it, although marking up a 21-0 victory. Touchdowns resulted from passes.

* * *

The Tygers will leave for Sandusky early tomorrow afternoon in private cars. "We had no difficulty thumbing our way to Sandusky in private cars," Snyder said today, "but we'll probably make our other two trips to Canton and Springfield by train."

WHITE SOX GAIN EDGE IN SERIES

CHICAGO—(AP)—Eddie Smith, the Chicago White Sox hard luck southpaw, will see how his fortune runs against National league opposition today as the Sox seek their second straight victory over their city rivals, the Cubs.

The Sox, who have not lost a city series since 1930, got away to a flying start in the 1942 opener yesterday at Wrigley field behind Ted Lyons' masterful three-hit 3-0 victory.

Big Ten Has Lots to Offer

Ohio and Indiana Meet In Conference Clash.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Western conference football will have lots to offer this week—also something hard to take.

The man in the middle will be Bernie Bierman, former Minnesota coach on leave of absence and now directing the powerful naval pre flight school eleven at Iowa City.

* * *

On Saturday his undefeated Seahawks will be out to smash Minnesota's 18 game victory string extending over three seasons—a string Bierman helped create in guiding the Gophers to five national titles in 10 years.

The game is one of a number of Saturday's top-notch Big Ten attractions which include the first conference clash of the season (Indiana-Ohio State), two intersectional contests (Texas at Northwestern; Purdue at Vanderbilt) and renewal of two intra state rivalries (Michigan State at Michigan; Marquette at Wisconsin.)

★"Velveted"—for extra smoothness! Like IMPERIAL'S rare base whiskies, its choice spirits are made in the world's largest distillery—then "velveted" by a method similar to the softening of spirits used in making fine Scotch.

"Flavor-peaked"—for extra richness! This superb American blend has that expensive, "imported-whiskey" flavor because its foundation whiskies are specially distilled to give them individual qualities—then blended together to a delicate "flavor peak." Today—try the whiskey that's "great—for two big reasons!"

CAN MEN CALL YOU "SCRAP SLACKERS"?

No Matter What You've Already Done About Your Scrap Metal . . . Read This Now!

To win this war we've got to get more scrap, and you have the finest kind of scrap. You have it in the largest quantities. Your scrap takes the least work to prepare for the mills. Without your help, all the household scrap in America — important as it is — cannot stave off disaster!

So here's what you must do. Wake up to the fact that it's not enough just to clean out broken and useless equipment. We've got to keep going! Get out the stuff that's lying around because someone thinks it may be used some day.

Make this the absolute, unchallenged rule:

IF IT HASN'T BEEN USED FOR SIX MONTHS, AND YOU ARE CERTAIN IT WON'T BE USED FOR THE NEXT SIX—SELL IT . . . OR SCRAP IT!

This is work for the boss to do—no one else can give the final word. If it's machinery, get in touch with the manufacturer, to see if someone else can use it. If they can't—scrap it! If it's a pile of extra parts or fixtures, sell or scrap the ones you don't need. If it's heavy stuff that has to be dismantled—do it, even if it costs more than the scrap will bring. Remember — you're not in this to make money . . . you're doing it to save our Country from defeat!

Get your employees in on this. Listen to their suggestions—let them know you're in it all the way. But don't forget the real job is up to you! For if this job ISN'T done, if our community and all the others in America DON'T come through, steel mills will shut down. Then if we lose the war—what will the things you hoard be worth?

Stop for a moment and think of that!

WHOSE BOY WILL DIE BECAUSE YOU FAILED?

★ ★ ★ ★

Here's How YOU Get In the SCRAP!

IF YOU LIVE IN MANSFIELD—

1. Search attic, basement and yard. Collect the scrap and go into action. You can—
2. Call a local junk dealer. Their names are in the phone directory. They will send a collector and pay you current prices for the scrap. Or you can—
3. Donate the scrap to your favorite charity. Nearly all of the established charity services maintain scrap collection services. They call for the scrap and then receive the money from the sale of it. Or you can—
4. Donate your scrap to the Richland Victory Civic Committee and the money will be used for going-away parties for the service men and for remembrances for them. Just phone 3763-6 (the Civilian Defense number) and a scrap collector will call for your collection. Or you can—
5. Deliver your scrap yourself to any filling station or sell it to any junk yard.

IF YOU LIVE IN THE COUNTRY—

1. A farm-to-farm canvass of Richland County is being made for scrap. Either you have been or will be visited. You can—
2. Turn in your scrap to the truck that will call at your farm. Or you can—
3. Call a junk dealer in Mansfield, Shelby or other towns in the county. Their general policy is to go out in the country for loads of two tons or more. Or you can—
4. Load up your scrap and deliver it to any junk yard, your favorite charity or the Richland Victory Civic Committee, phone 3763-6.

IF YOU LIVE IN SHELBY, PLYMOUTH, SHILOH, BELLVILLE, LEXINGTON, LUCAS, etc.

1. Contact your local salvage chairman or any filling station for full information.
